Harvard Educator Declares International Action to Curb Traffic is Needed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—American arms manufacturers anticipated the World War as early as 1908 and organized large sales forces in Europe to obtain orders, Sen. Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D., charged today at resumption of the senate's munitions inquiry.

Nye, chairman of the arms investigating committee, read a statement filed with the U. S. internal revenue bureau by Benedict W. Holden, attorney for the Colt Patent Firearms company, telling of preparations for a sales campaign abroad.

"We knew a tremendous conflict was brewing," Holden wrote. "An effort was made to determine whether Colts' contracts with the United States government for deliveries to the British navy were made before or after beginning of the World War in 1914."

Samuel M. Stone, president of the Colt company, said he did not know.

Stone, grouped with Irene Du Pont and H. F. Beebe, the latter representing the Winchester Repeating Arms company, sat at the witness table and was questioned about his firm's anticipation of the World War.

Earlier, as the second part of the munitions investigation began, Prof. Manley O. Hudson of the Harvard Law School testified that international action was necessary to curb uncontrolled traffic in arms and munitions.

Hudson was the first witness as the munitions hearing resumed.

BANDIT'S WIFE UNDER ARREST IN WINDY CITY

Widow of "Baby Face" Arrested Day After Death of Her Husband

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—The justice department revealed today that agents have held Mrs. Helen Gillis, young wife of Baby Face Nelson, in Chicago since November 29.

The blue-eyed wife of Nelson was picked up in Chicago the day after her husband's bullet-ridden body was found in a ditch near Chicago.

Mrs. Gillis, her husband and an unidentified male companion engaged in a battle with federal agents November 27 in which Nelson was mortally wounded, and Federal Agents Samuel P. Cowley and Herman Hollis were killed.

Justice department officials refused to reveal at once how Mrs. Nelson was captured, where she is being held in Chicago or what clues they may have to the other person sought as one of the killers of Cowley and Hollis.

Some believe this man was either John Hamilton, sole surviving Dillinger gangster, or Alvin Karpis, leader of a western band of kidnapers and bandits who is known at times to have aided the Dillinger gang.

"We have Mrs. Gillis in Chicago and we have had her since November 29," a justice department official said.

"That's all we can say right now."

RUM DEALERS MUST GET NEW LICENSES

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 4.—(UP)—Liquor dealers who wish to sell by the drink between the middle of this month, when the new control act becomes effective, and January 1, the date on which new licenses must be taken out, may do so by securing permits, the board of equalization announced today.

The temporary permits can be had at district offices of the board and will cost $30, the board said. Applicants must swear they are operating bona fide restaurants or hotels.

The board plans to inspect all establishments operating under such temporary permits and will refuse issuance of permanent licenses after January 1 to any dealers violating provisions of the new law.

LOSES BRACELET

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Princess Juliana, heir to the crown of the Netherlands, lost a $35,000 diamond bracelet when she was held to be a bridesmaid for Princess Marina at her wedding to the Duke of Kent, the Daily Telegraph said today.

NEW YORK PRODUCES SECOND SEVEN YEAR OLD BOY WHO IS EVEN SMARTER THAN EINSTEIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(UP)—"What do you mean, a child almost as smart as Prof. Albert Einstein?" the Bureau of Child Guidance in effect demanded of the educational clinic today. "Why, we have a child who is smarter."

The bureau then announced existence of a 7-1/2 year-old boy, who has an intelligence quotient of 230, making him the smartest person in all the world. Prof. Einstein's intelligence quotient is 205, one of the highest ever recorded heretofore, and the quotient of the educational clinic's prodigy, who is 7 years old, is only 196.

Big Crowds Drawn Here By Displays

Streets and Stores Gaily Decorated; Broadcast Music from Bank

THE ADVANCE guard of Santa Claus glided into Santa Ana last night to touch a magic button which sent a surge of color over the business district and which transformed the downtown section into a fairland of myriad and sparkling colors.

Thousands of persons from all parts of the county thronged the streets to admire the extraordinary display of color and light and to marvel at the tremendous stocks of fine Christmas merchandise which merchants have obtained for the holiday season, opened officially last night.

Twinkling lights of every hue and shade gleamed merrily from among the green boughs of Christmas trees mounted on the streets, flashing on as a bomb exploded, signalling the turning on of lights in stores and streets.

Entranced crowds stopped to listen to the majestic and inspiring Christmas music which floated down over the city from the top of the First National bank building.

Guests of the merchants who flung open their doors with gestures of hospitality last night, crowded eagerly about the special window displays which business men united in presenting this year.

Swanberger Wins
Interest of merchants and others centered in the window display contest staged by the chamber of commerce. The big sweepstakes prize was won by Swanberger's Store for Men. Windows of the Swanberger store were highly acclaimed for their artistry, appeal and Christmas motif by the three judges, F. E. Houseman, of Pomona, Jack J. Smith, of Long Beach, and R. Troy Meier, of Fullerton.

Against a solid background of royal blue set with sparkling silver stars, Swanberger showed artistic Christmas trees, made of white cellophane and hung with silver and blue balls. The same motif of a

GOV. MERRIAM SOON TO BEGIN SHAKEUP

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Political circles buzzed busily today with reports that Gov. Frank F. Merriam is about to announce important changes in administrative posts, supplanting appointees of the late James Rolph Jr. with office-holders of his own choosing.

It was said that Merriam has asked Dr. P. M. Walker, former mayor of Pasadena, to meet him in Sacramento Wednesday to discuss accepting the post of state director of institutions, now held by Dr. J. M. Toner.

A shakeup in the state harbor commission appeared inevitable. Those slated for the axe appeared to be President P. H. Meherin and Celestine J. Sullivan and possibly Joseph A. Moore.

at the Brooklyn ethical culture school, and his teacher, Mrs. Henry Neumann, was disturbed because newspapers had made much over the clinic's prodigy. She refused to divulge his name, fearing publicity might hurt his future.

The child's mind, like that of Prof. Einstein, seems predisposed toward music and mathematics, she said. He has devised a numerical alphabet with which he writes with ease and has invented a system of musical notation using numbers that competent music technicians have pronounced entirely practical.

AGREEMENTS OF PEACE SIGNED ON SAAR ISSUE

France and Germany Remove War Threat; Reich Guarantees Rights

ROME, Dec. 3.—France and Germany today signed "an agreement of peace" over the Saar Basin territory.

By the terms of this agreement, which is expected to end the grave controversy over the future sovereignty of the district, Germany will pay France 900,000,000 francs (approximately $59,400,000) and 11,000,000 tons of coal for France's mines and private credits in the Saar Basin and, furthermore, Germany guarantees equal rights to voters and nonvoters among all the inhabitants of the Saar regardless of race, religion or language.

Provisions Told
Receiving the foreign press this afternoon the Spanish delegate to the committee of three, Lopez Ollivan, told the correspondents that the agreement was divided into two parts, political and economic.

The political accord, he said, is divided into three parts as follows:

Germany guarantees to extend to non-voters the same standing as that of voters.

All have equal rights to social insurance and state assistance.

The inhabitants of the Saar have equal rights regardless of language, race and religion.

Pay for Mines

The financial accord, said the Spanish delegate, calls for the payment by Germany of 900,000,000 francs for the mines, which are the property of the French government, and for the private credits held by France, as well as a payment of 11,000,000 tons of coal from the Saar mines.

France and Germany, by the accord, reached an agreement on the method of payment which will not interfere with Germany's foreign exchange.

League Success

Ogilvan said the committee of three, composed of himself, Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy and Ambassador Cantillo of Argentina, had received from the League council only a mandate of forming proposals to be laid before the council but had been unable to go beyond this mandate and reach a direct agreement between the two interested parties, which had been signed today by the German and French ambassadors.

"This is a success for the League of Nations," said Ogilvan. "At the same time, the committee expresses the hope that this accord will bring peace to Europe."

The Spanish delegate paid warm tribute to the spirit of co-operation manifested by France and Germany during the committee's meetings and paid personal tribute to the other delegates.

The agreement naturally depends on whether Germany wins the plebiscite to be held next month in the Saar, but a victory by Germany there now is taken for granted.

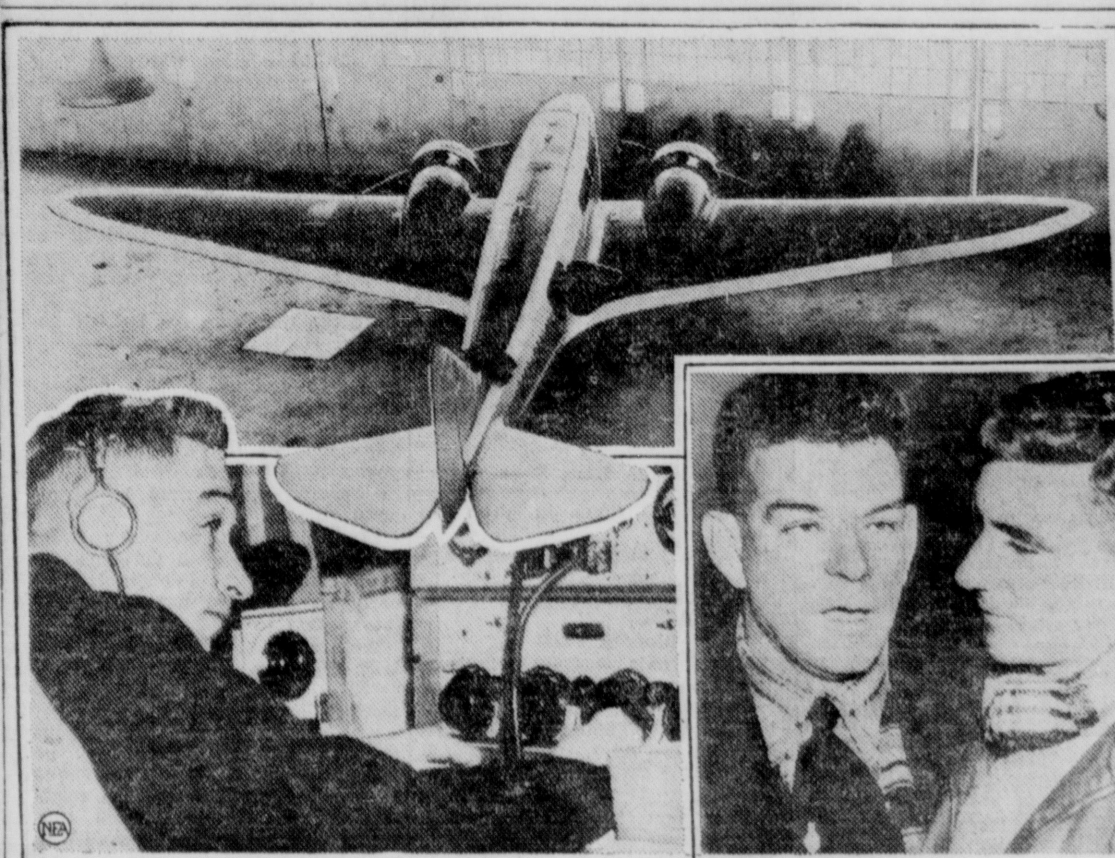

Diplomatic sources, in commenting on the agreement, said they were particularly struck by Germany's guarantee in reference to race, since they mean that the Jews will have equal rights in the Saar.

WITMER TELLS OF TWO DESERT LAND PROJECTS

Federal Land Registrar to Aid Homesite Seekers With Small Means

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Health and recreation seekers of moderate means will be aided in obtaining livable sites for desert homes by the successful completion of two projects now being worked out by Paul B. Witmer, Federal land registrar.

The larger of the projects is that of water development on about 19,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Twenty Nine Palms, fifty miles northeast of Palm Springs.

Hundreds of World War veterans already have homesteaded in this locality, but Witmer pointed out there is room for thousands of settlers, either homesteaders or persons wishing small homesites, if they are assured of water for domestic and agricultural purposes.

The veterans who have colonized in that vicinity, the land registrar said, have found water at short depths. Hundreds of other persons who wish to settle there have been prevented by the expense of drilling or digging for water, he added.

Tests to be Sought

It is his intention to appeal to President Roosevelt, Secretary of the Interior, Ickes, and Federal Emergency Relief Administrator Hopkins to provide government funds and SERA workers to conduct tests to locate water under the direction of engineers of the United States Geological survey.

The other project of the land registrar contemplates the re-establishment of an eighty-acre townsite located one mile west of Palm Springs, and the selling of the 500 lots, each 50 by 150 feet, at public auction. The land included in this acreage was withdrawn from public entry for townsite purposes in 1927.

FOUR HAVE NARROW ESCAPE IN CRASH

STOCKTON, Cal., Dec. 4.—(UP)—A twisted mass of airplane wreckage and a broken power pole told today of the close call four Seattle men had in trying to land an airplane in the dark here last night.

All four were suffering from painful although not serious injuries. Eddie Rasmussen, 37, pilot of the plane, had a leg fracture. So had William Douglas, 54, official of the Musicians' union at Seattle. J. E. Drain, investment broker, had a broken nose and facial lacerations. Dustin Barnes, 31, had severe head lacerations.

They were returning from a pleasure trip to Mexico when the accident occurred.

Just a Nice Playful Little Fellow

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 4.—(UP)—An amusement tax of $1 and costs was assessed against James Bates, 52, in city court here. Neighbors complained that Bates became intoxicated and amused himself by coating his wife with tar and tossing lighted matches at her.

NEGOTIATIONS TO END STRIKE ARE RESUMED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Negotiations to restore peace between striking street car and bus workers and the Los Angeles railway continued today despite general misgivings that a settlement was as remote as when the strike was called November 24.

"Negotiations will be continued, but we are just where we were a few days ago," announced P. A. Donoghue, federal mediator.

Since arriving here from Seattle last week, Donoghue has conferred daily with union leaders and company officials but has been unable to persuade the strikers to agree to arbitration. Union leaders demand both terms in addition to union recognition as conditions of a truce.

Negotiations also continued in an effort to avert an authorized walkout on the Pacific Electric interurban system. Members of the national mediation board received a list of demands from the Railway Men's Brotherhood, which included a new wage scale ranging from 59.1-2 to 83 cents an hour. Brotherhood representatives said

RICHEST GOLD STRIKE SINCE GOLDFIELD AND TONOPAH IS REPORTED NEAR MOJAVE

MOJAVE, Calif., Dec. 4.—(UP)—A gold strike which mining experts, gathered from half way around the world, claimed might equal in richness the most famous of western America, was revealed here today.

A closely guarded secret for more than a year, the strike was revealed when the colorful figures of Nevada's boom days, engineers from Mexico, Africa and India, and representatives of rich mining companies gathered to seek interests in the original discovery and surrounding properties. Among them are Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, George Wingfield and Walter Trent, developers of Goldfield; Senator Tasker L. Odde of Nevada,

POUR FIVE BILLION IN HOMES BUILDING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Plans to pour $5,000,000,000 into building of homes as soon as congressional action can be obtained was reported under consideration in administration circles today.

One plan under consideration would grant a 20 per cent subsidy to home builders or those wishing to repair their buildings. Sixty-four per cent of the money would be furnished by banks, the loans to be underwritten by the federal housing administration, and the remaining 16 per cent by the builders.

Under this plan, it was estimated that a person with a lot and only $400 in cash could be able to build a house costing at least $5000.

WIDE SEARCH STARTS

Radius of 300 Miles from Honolulu to Be Combed in Effort to Find Men

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 4.—(UP)—The attempt of Captain Charles T. P. Ulm and two companions to fly from California to Honolulu ended at 11:38 a. m. PST today when the plane, lost and out of fuel, came down at some unknown spot on the surface of the Pacific in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands.

Since 9:15 a. m. army and navy planes and shore stations, commercial wireless stations and naval and private shipping at sea had joined in a frantic effort to give Ulm and his plane, the Stella Australis, their bearings. Apparently something was wrong with the plane's radio for it was unable to pick up the radio beacon signals which had been turned on uninterruptedly throughout the night.

Ulm and his mates, Leon Skilling and George Littlejohn, had left Oakland, Calif., at 3:43 p. m. PST yesterday and had been in the air 19 hours, 55 minutes when they came down.

Gasoline Low
At 9:15 a. m. Ulm, who then had been begging land stations for bearings for considerable time, reported his gasoline would be exhausted soon and there followed a dramatic series of efforts to bring him aid.

But all efforts failed and about 11:35 a. m. the plane's signals, which had come at long to the Globe wireless station at Kaena Point until that time, began to fade.

Then came word from the line: President Coolidge that the Stella

CHURCHES TO FIGHT MILITARY TRAINING

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Despite the United States supreme court decision supporting compulsory military training at land grant colleges, Protestant churches will continue their fight to have military science eliminated from college courses, according to Bishop James C. Baker of San Francisco.

Speaking before the Sacramento Methodist Episcopal church Social union, Bishop Baker, honorary chairman of the committee which carried the case to the supreme court, said he believed that while the ruling would be a disappointment to all the great Protestant churches it would serve to unite them in support of conscientious objectors.

"The anti-militarist conscience emerging within and without the church will not express itself in a determined endeavor to arouse public opinion and make military training optional throughout the country," Bishop Baker said.

FIRE COMMISSIONER IN CHICAGO BURIED

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Fire engines, draped in mourning, formed part of the large funeral procession today for Arthur S. Seyterlich, fire commissioner, who died last Friday.

More than 500 firemen and 200 policemen joined in the huge procession, their last tribute to a chief who had chosen death rather than submit to leg amputation because "A fireman" he said, "with only one leg is no fireman at all." Death was caused by infection.

GAMBLING SALONS IN MEXICO CLOSED

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—(UP)—President Lázaro Cardenas has embarked on a campaign against gambling and, in keeping with his known views, is expected to extend it to drinking.

Last night the Foreign club, a $10,000,000 gambling casino in the suburbs, and the Casino de la Selva, at fashionable Cuernavaca, were closed by his orders. The Casino de la Selva until recently was operated by James N. Crofton of San Diego, Calif.

The Foreign Club is said to be the largest gambling house in the world. It was opened six months ago and was a favorite resort for American tourists.

Building Activity Greatly Improved In Santa Ana

NOVEMBER IS BEST MONTH IN SEVERAL YEARS

With the exception of the earthquake month of March, 1933, the total of building permit valuations during the month of November just passed was larger than any month since June, 1931, when a peak figure of $276,939 was issued, according to a report from Building Inspector Sam Preble.

A comparison of November this year with a similar period last year shows an increase of $91,753 for the month, while the total valuations this year to date are more than $250,000, just short of the entire 1933 valuation of $327,357.

There were 81 permits issued last month as compared to only 51 for the same month of the previous year. There have been 562 permits to date this year.

If the federal officials in Washington should approve the city hall project in record time, the permit might be included on the 1934 total, but there is some doubt that this will be possible. This permit, totalling between $115,000 and $120,000, would bring this year's total within a short distance of the figure set last year of $488,220, which was boosted considerably by earthquake construction and repairs.

THREE TRAINS ARE DERAILED BY HEAVY SNOW

Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha freight train was taken to a hospital at Superior, Wis., with several fractured ribs after the train's 18 empty cars were derailed near Minon, Wis. Wrecking crews worked along the snow-banked right of way to clear the wreck.

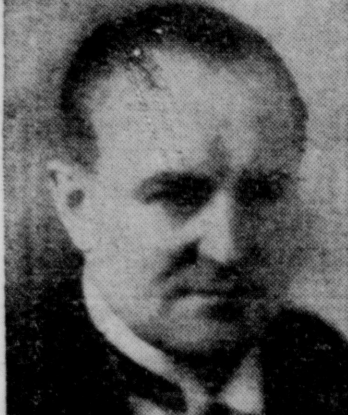

Heavy snow was blamed for a train wreck near Chippewa Falls, Wis., when the locomotive tumbled up on top of the cab, derailling three cars. The engineer and fireman leaped to safety.

The fourth Wisconsin death resulting from the sudden cold and heavy snow was reported at Plymouth. Margaret Mary Drum, 11, was killed when an automobile driven by her mother skidded off a highway into a ditch.

Seventy-five men tramped through drifts around Ackley, Ia., hunting Durr V. Leach, 67, an orchestra leader lost in the snow.

In looking over old maps, Register Witmer discovered the abandoned townsite, called it to the attention of J. H. Favorite, special land agent in charge of public lands in California, and has received assurances from the latter that he will investigate the plan to restore the townsite so that it may be disposed of at a town lot sale.

The recent announcement of the Federal Housing Administration that it will lend individuals up to $2000 for the construction of desert or mountain homes, Witmer believes, is a timely aid to the two projects for desert colonization by persons of moderate means.

CAPTAIN ULM FORCED DOWN NEAR HAWAII

Australis had come down on the water.

"We are just going into the water," the operator on the plane broadcast, according to the President Coolidge.

Weak signals continued, indicating the plane was riding safely on the surface. One message estimated earlier the plane would float for about two days.

At 11:54 PST the Globe wireless was informed by the President Coolidge that it had received a message from the plane saying: "Come and pick us up."

It was further evidence that the Stella Australis was riding the sea easily.

The President Coolidge was making ready to give help but still could not determine the plane's position.

Meantime, a squadron of three navy sea planes and a group of army amphibians were in the air, hoping to find the lost Stella Australis while the coast guard cutter Itasca was steaming southward from Honolulu to the rescue.

Plane In Water
The Mutual Radio in Honolulu just before noon picked up the weak signals from the plane.

"Plane in water," the message said. "Nosed into wind. Come pick us up."

At that time there was serious doubt as to where the plane might be. Some indications were that it was northwest of the islands but the liner President Coolidge inclined to the belief that it was probably to the southeast of Hawaii.

At 12:10 p. m. (PST) the Coast Guard cutter Tiger also was ordered out to join the search.

sented a report on action regarding munitions taken by the League of Nations.

"In 1921 a League of Nations committee framed a vigorous statement of the objections that are raised to uncontrolled private manufacture," he said. "It enumerated as current objections that armament firms have fomented war scares, have bribed officials, have disseminated false reports, have sought to control the press and have stimulated races in public armaments."

"To what do you attribute the failure of this government to cooperate in international agreements?" Chairman Nye asked.

"Partly the Senate," Hudson replied, explaining the senate was slow to ratify conventions and treaties.

Of the contracts for British delivery, Holden's brief said:

"The contract with the United States government, with delivery assigned to the British navy, is an eloquent testimonial as to the knowledge of the officials of our government that firearms would be in demand or required by European nations."

"Delivery in Canada for Great Britain was made on purchase orders and contracts beginning as early as 1914 and continuing uninterrupted to 1916."

Holden's statement said that in 1913 the Colt company was "receiving orders from all over the world."

Stone said he went to Europe in 1909, but insisted he took no part in creation of a Colt European sales organization. He testified it was his impression that "some automatic pistols" were sold to Russia before the war.

Nye charged that American companies had knowledge of an "armament race" abroad several years before hostilities began, and that huge profits were anticipated from sales of rifles, pistols and other small arms.

The site is 12 miles from here, near the highway leading to Los Angeles.

Holmes, who with his father, now owns a 60 per cent interest in the property, has given an option to the Gold Fields of South Africa Corporation. The price on which the option is based was reported to be in excess of $3,000,000.

Holmes gave a 20 per cent interest to Bruce Minnard, 28-year-old miner, and 20 per cent to another friend, Virgil Dew, for help in developing the discovery. Some time ago Minnard sold his interest for $500 and Dew his for $1000. Former Senator Oddie, special adviser on mine loans for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, is the field to look over developments, characterized the strike as "extremely rich."

"It is so rich it doesn't need a loan," he said. "So I am not here on official business of the R. F. C. It is a large, extremely rich deposit which may be of great importance to California and the nation."

"It is a discovery based on new geological conditions, between two old producers, and a revival of an old district. It was walked over for years. It's almost a joke it wasn't discovered before."

"They are shipping ore daily and getting the gold. I haven't tested myself, but the ore is reported to run between $30 and $40 a ton."

The bureau of child guidance is a part of the board of education.

A few months ago, a Brooklyn second grade teacher grew weary of a little boy who knew all the answers before she expounded them and sent him to the bureau. Dr. Morris Krugman gave him the "IQ" test and before he had finished the child had comprehended the involved method by which his test arrives (in theory) at an appraisal of intelligence. Astonished, Dr. Krugman began propounding mathematical theories which the child solved with ease.

The new prodigy, like the 7-year-old mental giant of the educational clinic, is of Jewish parentage, but his parents rather than having "little education, are classified as "professional intellectuals." He did not walk until 14 months old, and did not talk until 20 months. But when he did begin talking, it was in complete sentences without trace of garbled pronunciation. By 2 he had taught himself to read the alphabet and the numerical equivalent of each letter, (a equals 1,

His physical and social age is only a little more advanced than his chronological age and he therefore enjoys the company of other young children. No effort is made to push him. He is large for his age and has a strong, sound body. With little effort, it was said, he could be prepared to pass the entrance requirements of any university within a very short time.

blue night background with silver and white wreaths and trees was carried out throughout the store. Attractive packages wrapped in the same colored materials added to the interest of the windows. Swanberger's will receive a silver loving cup, which must be won three years in a row before becoming a permanent possession. Swanberger's windows were trimmed by E. M. Dickinson, who wins a cash prize.

Rutherford Second

Second prize in the window contest was taken by Rutherford's store for women. Ingenuity and originality featured these window displays. Christmas trees of white, hung with shimmering white strips of cellophane and green and silver balls. Another Christmas tree, white-limbed, was hung with multi-colored balls. Perhaps the outstanding part of the Rutherford display was the loveliness of the wrapped packages, decorated with ornaments and wrapped artistically with colored cellophane. Harriett Rutherford directed the display, aided by the store staff.

The most unique and outstanding part of the Vandermast display which won third prize, was on the canopies over the walks in front of the store. On two sides silver reindeer pranced along, drawing Santa Claus in a red, white and silver sleigh, to a large Christmas tree, specially lighted and decorated. Both the interior of the store and the windows were carried out in red and white motif. A huge cellophane garland just inside the store centered the display, with gleaming red cellophane Christmas trees and other decorations adding to the attractiveness. Jack Dean arranged the windows.

Honorable Mention

Honorable mention was made by the judges of the displays arranged by Montgomery Ward store, Steels, Sebastian's, Peterson's, Mission Flower shop and St. Anne's.

The music broadcast from the roof of the First National bank building was impressive and added much to the marked success of the big Christmas preview, which attracted more persons from out of town than any other event of recent years.

Jerry Hall, local merchant and musician, acted as master of ceremonies and also was featured in the vocal numbers. Ruth Armstrong directed and acted as accompanist. Inspiring Christmas numbers were presented by an instrumental trio comprised of Philip Hood, Edward Burns and Miss Armstrong; a lyric trio composed of Mary Steffensen, Joy Brisco and Laura Joiner, while Frank Pierce, popular baritone, was a featured vocal soloist.

Howard I. Wood, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and Phil Brown, manager of the Business Men's association, were active in arranging the event, while Walter Swanberger was chairman of the committee in charge of the window display contest. Milton Foster arranged for the broadcast of music.

BELIEVE SLEEPING BEAUTY AWAKENING

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Relatives of Patricia Maguire believe she is awakening from a strange malady which has held her in sleep for more than 33 months.

Happily hanging wreaths adorned in the windows of a stucco cottage in Oak Park, Mrs. Peter Milley, Patricia's mother, revealed that the pretty 29-year-old stenographer has shown every day this week that she is gaining ground against the coma which has defied medical treatment.

Yesterday, preparing to give the "sleeping beauty" her morning bath, she asked gayly:

"How are you feeling this morning Pat?"

Slowly the girl's black eyes moved toward her mother. She sighed.

CHARGES INDUSTRY RETARDS RECOVERY

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Dec. 4.—(UP)—The economic recovery of the nation is being retarded by organized industry in its moves to strangle reforms in state government, Gov. Paul V. McNutt said in an address at the National Association of state tax administrators here.

The governor charged that many state governments are threatened with chaos because business and industrial forces are waging bitter campaigns against reforms in government structure, made necessary by the changing economic order.

McNutt's address brought to a close the first day's session during which vigorous attacks were made on state tax systems.

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 4. (To the Editor of The Register:) Ireland rioted in the movie theaters when they showed pictures of the wedding of the Duke and Marianna, when that Ireland don't like anything, they don't even like the picture of it. Well, they missed seeing a mighty pretty couple.

Local Briefs

Daniel Farrell, who was struck by a hit and run motorist near the county hospital two weeks ago, is in a slightly improved condition at the Orange county hospital.

Townsend Pension club No. 5 will meet at Lowell school at 7 o'clock tonight.

N. E. West of Laguna Beach, newly elected supervisor from the fifth district, attended today's meeting of the county supervisors as an observer. West informally occupied the seat of the present supervisor, George Jeffrey, who is at present in Washington on board business.

LARGE LABOR PROJECT FOR PARK APPROVED

Employment of 114 men with an appropriation of $35,500 for labor at Irvine park was authorized in a SERRA project approved today by the county supervisors, as a county project.

The project estimate of $2000 to the county for materials and supervision, would be reduced to about $700 for materials, as the county could supply supervision from its regular employees, according to Chairman Willard Smith.

The project calls for Santiago creek channel protection in park, and construction of paths and other improvements, it was said.

Error In Record Uses Wrong Name In Theft Report

An error in police records yesterday caused some confusion when it was reported that the home of Constable Cornish Roehm, 2612 North Flower street had been burglarized Sunday night, whereas the home robbed was that of A. M. Wunderlich, 2605 North Flower street, who lives next door to the Roehm home.

Additional articles stolen were reported by Wunderlich yesterday to bring the total value of the loot to $168. Clothing, silverware, gun and holster, riding boots and jewelry were taken by the thief, who cut a screen on a rear window to gain entrance to the house.

INVESTIGATOR AND ATTORNEY PRESENT DATA

Fraud charges centering about the Newport Beach city election of last April 9 were laid before the county grand jury behind closed doors today by Attorney Edgar L. Martin, of Los Angeles, representing a group of Newport Beach citizens, 15 of whom waited outside the jury room throughout the forenoon while Martin conferred with the jury.

With Martin in the conference with the grand jury was D. H. Betton special investigator employed by District Attorney S. B. Kaufman to probe the charges first brought to light several months ago by Martin in a letter to the Newport Beach council.

Attorney Martin had announced in advance that he would place all evidence in his possession before the grand jury to support his charges, which involved alleged tampering with voting lists, illegal registration and illegal voting by non-residents, and irregular conduct of election boards.

Sensational disclosures were promised by those in the group waiting to appear before the grand jury if summoned. Martin and Betton, it was understood, filed numerous affidavits in support of the charges. It was likely that at least 100 witnesses would be summoned, if the grand jury decided to undertake the investigation, according to members of the Newport Beach delegation.

Among those in the group were: Councilman Irvin G. Gordon, Captain J. E. Gore, Captain A. Forbes, John Hahn, William Hahn, Andrew J. Lennox, Will Loomis, Howard Helms, Joseph Schlicker, Ed Epperly, Claude Sweetman, J. C. Plack, C. W. Hunt and E. O. Melvin, of Newport Beach; and J. A. Boone, of Costa Mesa.

At noon, the conference still was in progress.

Condition of Chas. Field Is Critical

Condition of Charles O. Field, Orange rancher, who was injured in a head-on collision in San Bernardino county Sunday night, remained critical today. He suffered severe head injuries and is confined to St. Bernardine's hospital in the Gate City.

Field's car and one driven by William F. Skinner collided 10 miles north of Adelanto. Skinner was jailed pending an investigation of the accident.

JUNIOR LIONS BLAME BOY FOR HOLD ELECTION 7 BURGLARIES AND INITIATION IN ANAHEIM

Final initiation of pledges and the semi-annual election of officers featured a program of the Santa Ana Metropolitan Junior Lions in the service club's monthly dinner meeting in James cafe last night.

Pledges Richie Bassett, Stanley Sandstrom, Laurence Peck and Warren Bramley were installed as regular members in initiation ceremonies conducted by Omar Williams, president, and Paul Wright, membership chairman. Their acceptance by the club climaxed a pledgeship period of six weeks.

New officers selected to serve with President Williams for the ensuing term are Fred Humiston, vice president who succeeds Charles Greenleaf; John Smith and Willard Minor, who were re-elected to their respective positions as secretary and treasurer; Paul Wright, tail-twister who replaces Eric Twist; Chester Cook, Lion tamer; Charles Greenleaf, historian who succeeds Edward Meador; and Directors Greenleaf and Wright, who will serve with Fred Humiston and James Decker. These officers will be installed at a dinner in January.

Homer Chaney, prominent in Senior Lion activities was a guest at the initiation.

The Junior Lions voted to prepare two Christmas food baskets for needy families, and to assist the Senior Lions, their sponsors, in distributing other food to the needy.

Plans for an outing in the mountains were discussed, and Warren Bramley and Laurence Peck were appointed on a committee to make arrangements. The Lions, headed by Fred Schrock and Bill Proctor, are sponsoring a dance in the Y. W. C. A. hall a week from Friday night.

A boy wearing tennis shoes is being blamed by sheriff's officers and Anaheim police for at least seven of the many burglaries reported over the week end, following the finding of similar shoe tracks on the seven jobs south of Anaheim.

Officers are virtually certain that the youth was involved in the burglaries at the Anaheim homes of Dr. H. A. Johnston, 1401 South Los Angeles street; John Nellesen, R. D. 4, Box 201, Anaheim; George Barfoot, 900 South Los Angeles street, Mrs. Emma Lohring, West Ball road, Leland Auer, Ball road and Los Angeles street, Mrs. Alma Waller, R. D. 4, Box 199, Anaheim, and Mrs. W. Simms, 881 South Claudina street.

At the Waller home, the thief ransacked the house, ate some chocolates and half of a chocolate cake. Nothing was taken at the Lohring home, except a quart of milk, which was taken from the front porch. The side pockets of a car and a trunk were ransacked, however.

Loot taken in the Nellesen burglary included two men's watches, two rings and a black felt hat. Articles taken in the other burglaries and previously reported, included music, jewelry, clothing, chickens, clock and similar valuables.

PEACE OFFICERS TO HEAR BOYS' WORKER

Judge E. J. Milne, superintendent of the Whittier State School for Boys, will be the main speaker at the meeting tomorrow night of the Orange County Peace Officers association in the Fullerton Odd-fellows hall at 6:30 o'clock.

Chief James Pearson of Fullerton will act as host for the evening and the dinner will be served by the Daughters of the Veterans of the Civil war. The speaker of the evening was secured by Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel and is widely known as an educator and in boys' work.

ORDERED TO LEAVE

Robert Lavigne, charged with petty theft, was given a 30-day suspended sentence in the Laguna Beach justice court today and was ordered to leave the county by Judge C. C. "Gavvy" Cravath.

PROTEST USE OF "OUTSIDE" TRUCKS ON JOB

Proposed importation of trucking equipment from outside of the county, for use on the Sulphur Slide realignment contract by the contractors, Sharp and Fellows, was the subject of a protest made today before the county supervisors by a committee of Orange county truckmen, who asked the board's aid in an attempt to obtain employment of local equipment.

The board promised to take the matter up with the state highway commission, which awarded the contract, Santa Ana canyon route being a state highway. Chairman Willard Smith informally expressed the opinion that, inasmuch as Orange county truckmen cannot obtain employment on jobs in other counties, it seems only reasonable to expect that outside trucks would not be employed in this county.

The contractors, according to the truckmen's committee today, have indicated their purpose of using some of the big trucks that have been in use at Boulder Dam. Federal money is involved in financing the Santa Ana canyon contract, it is said. All labor will be recruited locally, through the national re-employment bureau, it is stated.

No One Hurt In Two Collisions

Two minor wrecks were reported to Santa Ana police yesterday, in which no one was hurt. Cars driven by Gilbert E. Jones, Midway City, and M. I. Tuttle, 1206 South Birch street, collided at Third and Birch streets last night and the Jones vehicle was overturned.

George Horton, 1333 South Flower street, reported that his car was struck by a hit and run motorist at Fourth and Bristol streets Sunday evening. He chased the other car and stopped it after several blocks and said the driver was Ben Gomez, 307 Stafford street, according to police records. After giving him a severe lecture, Horton let him go, it was reported.

HELD FOR TRIAL

Delbert Lathey, charged with drunken driving, was bound over to the superior court when he had his preliminary hearing in the Orange justice court today. His bond was fixed at $500, which he failed to post.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

WHO'S IMPORTANT

It is customary for everyone to start viewing congress with alarm about this time of year. There seems to be less of it this year because of the popular impression that President Roosevelt dominates the situation. He certainly has so far.

A private check-up discloses that in the first twenty-one months of his administration he has issued almost 1000 executive orders. That means he made nearly 1000 new laws. This is a record. It is almost fifty a month, or two a day, not counting Sundays.

In the same time, congress has passed 1332 measures, meaning 111 new laws.

Most of these decrees by the president and by congress are important. Mr. Roosevelt's mostly related to NRA codes. Some of the congressional acts merely gave Mr. Roosevelt authority to act.

FERMENT

There are other more significant underlying factors in the present congressional situation.

The truth is that this coming meeting of the newly elected legislators is not going to be a congressional session, at all, but rather a caucus of the new polyglot Democratic party. There are not enough Republicans left to make it interesting, but there are enough different kinds of Democrats to prevent it from being orderly.

At bottom, the situation seems to be this: The congressmen generally fear Mr. Roosevelt, but agree with him wholeheartedly; nearly all who have arrived here so far seem to feel that they could still do better than the president has; each carries from one to half a dozen pet panaceas hidden in his skull.

They can be expected to beat their breasts for him and raise hell for themselves.

POWER

Mr. Roosevelt's patronage club has been operating considerably since the last session. Most of the good jobs already have been given away. Yet he retains more than the ordinary amount of small privileges and preferences to barter with.

More important is the fact that congress as a whole seems still to be as unpopular as ever with the country. Last week there was a try-out of a new play here. The producers discovered to their amazement that the scene which drew the greatest applause was one in which George Washington physically threw two congressmen out of his headquarters with scorn and derision. Such a feeling, more than anything else, will work in Mr. Roosevelt's favor.

The result will be that the administration generally will prevail, but it will be a harder job than you think, and frequent compromises will be necessary.

DROUGHT

The drought has passed out of the headlines, but its real effect is only now beginning to be measurable.

Animal feed supplies have reached such a dangerously low level that actual imports of corn, soy beans, oats and hay are now starting. The government curtailment program and the drought have cut the supply to the smallest level since 1881.

AAA-ers admit off the record that, if there is a heavy winter, feed stocks probably will not be sufficient to carry livestock through to spring. Yet if the winter is open and pastures remain available, the lack of snow will offer another drought menace for next year. This dilemma has the AAA all tied up in knots.

While one division is announcing plans for new crop cuts next year, another is moving earth and trying to move heaven to conserve feedstuffs.

FODDER

How the situation stacks up in the principal feed crops is figured by the AAA on this basis: Corn 56 per cent of average; oats 50 per cent; barley 45 per cent; wheat 66 per cent; pastures on October 1, poorest on record; commercial feeds, smallest supply in any recent year.

A special bureau was set up a few weeks ago to advise farmers what feeds are available and their price. Wild hay and even some weeds are for the first time being used to feed cattle.

All weather reports are being scanned by anxious eyes. The

Stop Bad Breath

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels, stimulating them to natural action, and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no gripping pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with constipation with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two at bedtime for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. (Adv.)

clearly indicate differences in sectional conditions.

MUM

Cautious Wall Street lawyers have thought up a new worry for their corporate clients. By examining the securities act with a microscope they've discovered that any officer or director who expresses an opinion about his company's financial status—unless it is based on facts contained in an audited and published report—is taking an awful chance. It appears that he can be sued for damages if (a) his statement later turns out to be inaccurate or (b) if he doesn't broadcast it to all his company's security holders at the same time.

A number of companies have always believed that silence was golden when it came to answering stockholders' questions. This legal opinion is ice cream for them. They now have a perfect excuse for refusing to satisfy the curiosity of the inquisitive shareholders—and nobody can accuse them of nefarious motives in keeping mum.

RESIDENCE

Insiders call New York City's new inheritance tax the height of hope. They remark that people whose estates are worth taxing usually maintain more than one residence and can easily shift their official domiciles elsewhere if it's going to cost them money to call themselves New Yorkers. And there isn't a thing the city can do about it.

This question of residence has its business angles too. Several years ago a New York investment trust was bought by another which had headquarters elsewhere and thought it was through paying New York state taxes. But it kept up a small local office and inadvertently forgot to have its name taken out of the telephone book. One day a state tax official called up—not revealing his identity—and asked if he was speaking to the office of the Blank Corporation. He was. It was cautiously told that he was. Two days later a tax bill arrived for $87,000. The company fought it in the courts and was over-ruled on the ground that the state had proof of legal residence.

That's probably the most expensive phone call on record. The phone company was kept busy soon after delisting high-sounding corporate titles.

7:30. The Merry-makers, with Ray.

B. & P. W. CLUB HIGH OFFICIAL IS GUEST HERE

Mrs. Caroline Webber, first vice president in California federation, Business and Professional Women's club, was guest of honor last night when Santa Ana B. P. W. members met in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe. Sharing guest honors with Mrs. Webber was Miss Carrie Quinn, member of the Wells, Minn., club, who is here on an extended visit with Mrs. Ella Quinn Avery, 502 South Broadway.

Preceding the program on "Emblems" given under chairmanship of Mrs. Blanche Small Brown were various announcements made by Mrs. Rose Walker, club president. These included that of the annual Christmas party of Los Angeles B. and P. W. to be held December 8 in Los Angeles Women's Athletic club. Dinner at 6:45 o'clock will be followed by a musical tableau and an address.

Given on a New Day" by Manchester Boddy. Many Santa Ana clubwomen are accepting invitation to the event, and must make reservations by Friday.

Riverside clubwomen sent invitation to the banquet in Glenwood Mission Inn on the evening of December 13 during the annual Institute of World Affairs.

Plans were made for the club Christmas party Monday night, December 17 when dinner at 6 o'clock will be followed by a social program and exchange of 25-cent gifts.

Last night's program opened with solos by Arnes Bugge, Norwegian baritone, whose rich and beautifully trained voice promises to be a decided acquisition to the city's musical circles. Bugge, a graduate from University of Norway in electrical engineering, is now living in Santa Ana. Miss Leonora Tompkins was his accompanist in two song groups, the first including "Saf, Saf, Susa" by Sibellus and "Eventide" by Grondahl. Later in the evening he sang "Evening Star" by Wagner and "Matinata" by Tosti. For the German and Italian songs, he gave brief translations, adding to their interest for his audience.

Mrs. Webber gave a report of the December board meeting held in Bakersfield, and announced the dates of May 24 and 25 for the annual state convention in San Francisco. An interesting panel discussion followed on "The Right to Earn" after which a clever Emblem playlet was presented. Taking part were Miss Lena Thomas, state emblem chairman, Martha Whitson, Marguerite Chapman, Isabel Lindsay, Henrietta Foster, Bernice Hart and Grace Wolff.

Concluding the program was an emblem fashion show, showing different articles on which the club emblem may be used. These included bill folds, keychains, bookends and jewelry.

SERA LABOR TO BUILD ANAHEIM HIGH SCHOOL

ANAHEIM, Dec. 4.—Laying foundations for the classroom and study hall units of the new high school building will be done by SERA labor according to word received here yesterday by J. A. Claves, principal of the school. Applied for more than a month ago the project has just received official approval.

Under the present plan the foundation work will require 40 men at an estimated cost of $9796 solely for labor. Material and supervision will be furnished by the high school district with Architect T. C. Kistner in charge of the work. Work on the foundation, however, cannot start until plans have been approved by the state architect. Assurance has been given the district board that plans for the foundation would be checked first by the state authorities and forwarded ahead of the rest of the plans in order to start work.

It is expected by Engineer A. H. Pibel that the plans for foundation work will arrive in time for the job to start when excavation work which has been in progress since November is completed. This excavation is necessary before laying of the foundation can start and it is estimated that it will be completed by the first of January.

FULLERTON, Dec. 4.—American citizens need to appreciate the liberties offered under the constitution and to exercise their right to the ballot, if these liberties are to be maintained, according to John C. Porter, former mayor of Los Angeles, who talked at the Brotherhood dinner at the Christian church Monday night. S. O. Linggo presided and C. C. Chapman introduced the speaker of the evening.

America today faces danger from foreign propaganda, which makes an effort to have Americans feel that other programs are better than the American way, according to the speaker. He told of instances in Europe where people are enslaved through other forms of government than the democratic form.

In telling of his experiences in Los Angeles during his mayoralty, he said he had seen many Communist activities quelled.

Stanley Berkey was in charge of the music. He introduced Dwight Goodwin, who sang several numbers in costume. John Schumacher of Buena Park assisted with the program by giving humorous Mexican interpretations.

Several friends accompanied the speaker from Los Angeles for the dinner and meeting. Also present besides members were representatives of Fullerton Kiwanis, of Rotary and of 20-30 clubs.

The Brotherhood is sponsoring two programs in the near future, one Monday, December 10, when the Swiss Yodlers will appear, and one within two weeks when the Goose Creek quartet from the Little Country church of Hollywood will sing.

TAXPAYERS IN RUSH TO AVOID LATE PENALTY

With more than 2000 taxpayers jamming their way through the limited quarters of the county tax collector's office, a total of $165,422 in tax receipts was collected yesterday, Tax Collector J. C. Lamb stated today.

Another rush was in progress today, and is expected tomorrow, the final day of payments, before delinquency. The tax windows close at 5 p.m. tomorrow.

The bulk of the 2290 individual remittances received yesterday were brought into the office personally by the taxpayers, who crowded the office and formed a long line outside between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

"And they are paying with a smile this year," commented Lamb, who said he noted a marked improvement in optimism among the taxpayers this year, as compared to last.

"They have been patient throughout the depression, but heretofore the corners of their mouths turned down. But this year they are turning up," said Lamb. "There is a much better spirit immediately noticeable."

Lamb complimented the taxpayers for having absorbed the advice he issued through the press, with regard to preparing their checks for payments before coming to his office. Most of them had done so, else there would have been great difficulty in handling the 2000 yesterday at seven tax windows, he said.

Hunter Leach is acting as traffic director in Lamb's office during the rush, keeping the lines untangled and guiding taxpayers to the proper windows.

If the same cooperation is received from the taxpayers during these last two days, the congestion will be greatly obviated, Lamb said.

SERA LABOR TO BUILD ANAHEIM HIGH SCHOOL

ANAHEIM, Dec. 4.—Laying foundations for the classroom and study hall units of the new high school building will be done by SERA labor according to word received here yesterday by J. A. Claves, principal of the school. Applied for more than a month ago the project has just received official approval.

Under the present plan the foundation work will require 40 men at an estimated cost of $9796 solely for labor. Material and supervision will be furnished by the high school district with Architect T. C. Kistner in charge of the work. Work on the foundation, however, cannot start until plans have been approved by the state architect. Assurance has been given the district board that plans for the foundation would be checked first by the state authorities and forwarded ahead of the rest of the plans in order to start work.

It is expected by Engineer A. H. Pibel that the plans for foundation work will arrive in time for the job to start when excavation work which has been in progress since November is completed. This excavation is necessary before laying of the foundation can start and it is estimated that it will be completed by the first of January.

NARCOTICS RUNNING PROBED IN MURDER

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 4.—(UP)—Police, delving deep into the mass of fact and theory that surrounds the slaying of John Gorrell, 23, by Philip Kennamer, 19, son of a federal district judge, today considered evidence of an extortion plot, hints of blackmail and rumors of narcotics running.

Banded about in the investigation, in which the federal government is taking a hand, were the names of families prominent in Tulsa's social, professional and political life.

The narcotics angle was the newest considered by Sergeant H. B. Maddux of the police department, and Holly Anderson, county attorney, since the body of young Gorrell, son of a prominent physician, was found in his stalled car last Thursday. Young Kennamer confessed he shot Gorrell. He said it was self defense. His preliminary hearing is set for Dec. 17.

The meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight will be addressed by William Atchey of Upland, talking on "Federal Warehouse Storage"; F. R. Buchanan of Glendale, speaking on "Moving Bees Open or Closed"; and R. H. Hawthorn of Alberta, Canada, with the subject, "Canadian Beekeeping."

The program tomorrow includes: 9 a.m., "Queens and Package Bees in California," T. L. Nicolaysen, Salida; "Market Enforcement Act," Wilson B. Woodburn, division of market enforcement, Los Angeles; "Subjects Interesting to Beemen," N. E. Miller, Colton.

WARNS LIQUOR INTERESTS TO CURB TACTICS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—The eve of repeal's first anniversary today brought a vigorous warning from Rep. Emanuel Celler, Dem., N. Y., bitter opponent of the 18th amendment, that liquor interests must curb their ways or prohibition will come back for good.

At the same time Director Joseph E. Choate, Jr., of the federal alcohol control administration, summed up results of the year with a demand for lower liquor taxes to fight the bootleg evil.

The anniversary found liquor problems still much in the public eye, questions of legal consumption of spirits replaced the debates of prohibition days.

Cells charged that liquor interests were swinging back to practices reminiscent of pre-Volstead days. He attacked distilleries as constantly placing advertising before the public designed to popularize drinking.

Issues Warning Unless these practices are curbed, he warned, he will sponsor legislation strictly regulating all liquor advertising.

Unless unwholesome display advertisements in newspapers and periodicals and direct mail propaganda is stopped, Celler said he would ask congress to curb nationwide and interstate liquor advertising.

Advertisements, he charged, are "most luring and compelling. More and more young men and women are being attracted to the use of liquor."

Drinking among housewives in particular is increasing. Celler also attacked the state dispensary systems.

"Evidence of graft is widespread," he charged. He urged that liquor taxes be cut in half so as to remove the economic motive for bootlegging.

Tax is Obstacle This demand was echoed by Choate who expressed belief that the domestic tax of $2 a gallon on spirits and the import levy of $5 a gallon on imported liquors were the greatest obstacles to further price reductions and suppression of bootlegging.

He admitted, however, that the national revenue must be considered. Treasury, congressional and P.A.C.A. experts now are studying the tax issue. The federal government, Conte believes, could collect vast amounts from liquor if it could first eliminate entirely bootleg traffic.

"Look at the British Isles," he said. "With a population only one-third that of this country, they collect liquor taxes of $600,000,000 a year. They are able to levy those high taxes because they have no bootlegging."

In the 18 months since legalization of $2 beer, the United States treasury has collected $425,000,000.

CAMPAIGN FOR BETTER HEALTH TO BE OPENED

Lloyd Thompson, national director of Physicians' Expansion Bureau, today announced completion of plans to start a better health campaign in Santa Ana, under the sponsorship of Madden's Pharmacy, 214 North Sycamore street.

Plans were made by Thompson, who is accompanied by James E. Lightbourne, state bureau director, to initiate the health campaign following a series of conferences with some of the leading physicians of Santa Ana.

During the campaign a series of better health articles will appear through the advertising columns of The Register, designed to impress on residents of Santa Ana the importance of maintaining close touch with their family physician as a means of safeguarding and promoting better health.

Thompson pointed out that Madden, proprietor of the pharmacy, is rendering an important service to the community by his sponsorship of the coming series of health articles, adding that periodical physical examinations are one of the most effective agencies in the prevention of disease by checking possible ailments at their inception.

Thompson commended the high standards and professional attainments of the medical men whom he

HIDDEN TAXES BOOST TOTALS TO POINT WHERE 1-3 OF INCOME REQUIRED TO PAY

By ROBERT L. LUND
Of St. Louis, Former Member of the N.R.A. Industrial Advisory Board, Member of the Advisory and Planning Council of the Commerce Department.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Without doubt the gravest possibility of danger confronting this country lies in our financial problem. It lies in the fact that our Government, in its several divisions, Federal, State and local, has, since the depression began, been spending literally billions of dollars more than its income, and unhappily, this overspending not only continues but the excess of expenditures over receipts is still steadily increasing.

No government can continue Robert L. Lund such a policy indefinitely and escape disaster because, however strong it may be, continued deficits must end in bankruptcy just as certainly for a government as for an individual or a business.

Since 1890, although our population has not quite doubled, our federal government costs have increased twenty times, our state government costs twenty-three times and our local government costs eighteen times. In 1890, more than one hundred years after our government was founded, our total annual governmental expenditures were less than one billion dollars, but in the 44 years since, they have grown to the enormous sum of approximately sixteen billion dollars.

In 1890 the yearly cost of government per family was less than $60. Today with almost double the population it is over six hundred dollars. Stated in another way the cost of government last year equalled fully one-third of the total income of all our people, which means that every employed person in the country worked for the government two days out of every six.

A Fool's Paradise
In the effort to meet these growing costs our taxes are rising faster than those of any other civilized nation. Since 1929 the percentage increase in the United States has been five times that of France, almost three times as much as in England. While our taxes as now assessed are somewhat less than in England, our per capita government expenditures are almost one-half more, and England's far exceed those of any other important nation. We have had recently a vivid proof of the rate at which our taxes are increasing in the federal reports for July, which showed an increase over 130 millions collected the same month one year ago of sixty-four million dollars, practically one half.

Many citizens believe they have no concern about taxes because they pay little or none directly. That man is living in a "fool's paradise" who says "I own no property. I pay no income tax. Why should I bother about taxes?"

Out of every dollar this man spends the tax gatherer is getting from thirty to thirty-five cents in hidden taxes. You don't have to go to a court house to pay taxes because, included in your rent are all of the taxes paid upon property. Because included in the prices you pay are the sales taxes on medicines, gasoline, tobacco, liquors, and the long list of articles on which such excise taxes are levied.

The Cost of Doing Business
Because included in the cost of the things you buy are the corporation income taxes, property taxes and the taxes for licenses and for all other levies the corporations must pay. Because in the rates you pay for electric current, for gas, for railroad and motor transportation, and for all other services, are the taxes that must be paid by the companies providing these services.

It is obvious that this must be true, because if the business concerns of the nation could not collect from their customers the heavy taxes they must pay, every concern in the country would sooner or later become insolvent and go into bankruptcy, none could continue in business, and this applies to every enterprise from the smallest newspaper to the largest industrial plant.

I quote from a recent pamphlet an example which will be understood and appreciated by most any American.

"Drive into a filling station. Ask for 10 gallons of gasoline and a quart of oil. Tell the attendant to put water in the radiator and check the tires. While he's busy, stroll over to the counter and buy a package of cigarettes. Come back, pay your bill—and in less than five minutes you have paid three separate taxes on your expenditures of less than $2.50.

Depending upon the state and city or town, you have paid in taxes from forty cents to one dollar and ten cents on the gasoline; from two to seven cents on the cigarettes, a total of thirty to fifty per cent on your purchase. Well, you console yourself, 'at least I wasn't taxed for the air.' 'But weren't you taxed for the air?' Let's see. The filling-station proprietor paid either a sales tax or its equivalent on the electricity to operate it. Do you think he paid the tax and forgot it? He did not.

"Quite naturally he passes both the direct and the indirect—the open and the hidden—taxes on to you. They are part of his 'cost of doing business.' But, regardless of the nature of the taxes, you pay them all. Either as a separate charge, or in that all-embracing item—the 'cost of doing business.'" reports that should be studied by every citizen interested in good government.

What can be done about this orgy of government spending by federal, state and local governments? The first thing to be remembered is that all money spent by government is appropriated by some governmental body. Obviously any corrective influence must be brought to bear upon the members of these bodies, the Congress of the United States, state legislatures, the city boards of aldermen, town councils, improvement district boards, and others.

The first duty of the citizen concerned about taxes is to see that men elected to these bodies recognize a public sentiment against unwise government expenditures.

There is always a temptation to men in politics to spend the taxpayer's money to keep themselves in office, using it to cater to those who have political power. There is no more vicious abuse of public trust than this and the remedy for it is an overpowering public sentiment constantly and strongly expressed.

The fight for efficient and economical government must be a long and difficult one, against heavy odds, but it is a fight that must be made, because the beginnings of economic disaster lie in the unwise spending of public monies.

DEATH CLAIMS CAPT. C. OAKES, SEA CAPTAIN

A colorful career was ended today when Capt. Charles Chandler Oakes, 78, who sailed the seas for years at the helms of famous old windjammers and later in control of steamships and who was marine superintendent for the Ward Steamship lines for years, died at his Santa Ana home, 1825 North Ross street.

Captain Oakes died peacefully in his sleep after an illness of about a year's duration. He and his wife, who was his partner in many of his sea voyages, settled down in Santa Ana about eight years ago after retiring from active work.

The old sea captain was born and bred at Yarmouth, famous ship-building harbor village on the rocky coast of Maine. His grandfather and great-grandfather also were sailors men of Yarmouth, and both of them were charter members of the Masonic lodge there, to which chapter Captain Oakes had belonged for 57 years.

Captain Oakes is the man who appointed Robert R. Wilcott, who commanded the Morro Castle but who died just before the disaster to the ship, a captain.

The sea captain whose career ended with death today had experienced hurricane, cyclone and typhoons in his long and varied career on the sea. He had aided in the rescue of crews of wrecked ships and himself had perished atop the wreckage of the "S. C. Blanchard" a thousands miles from dry land after five days of battling the elements before being rescued.

Besides his widow, Captain Oakes is survived by a daughter, Miss Mary Oakes, of the home, and a sister, Miss Alice Stevens, who resides in Portland, Maine.

Funeral services, in charge of the Masonic lodge, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from the chapel of the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street, with the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, minister of the Congregational church, officiating.

Cremation will follow the funeral services, and the ashes will be taken back to Yarmouth, Maine, to rest beside those of his forefathers.

CHURCH BOARD APPROVES NEW WORSHIP PLAN

ORANGE, Dec. 4.—At a meeting of the board of the First Christian church held Monday night, with M. E. Bivens presiding, plans were made for a congregational meeting to be held January 4, when a vote will be taken on the installation of the unified worship and Bible study plan, under consideration in a number of churches of the city for some months.

The plan provides for a morning service opening with church worship at 9:30 a. m. and closing with Bible study at 11:30 a. m. Plans also were made for evangelistic meetings.

The plan was given the approval of the board and of 29 of the teachers of the church school, one voting against it and three not expressing a preference at last night's meeting. If the plan receives the approval of the congregation it will be put in operation on March 1.

A committee on publicity and music was appointed for the evangelistic meetings which are to open January 6 and which are to be conducted by Dr. James Earl Ladd. M. E. White heads the committee and working with him are M. E. Bivens, Mrs. Effie Whitney, F. F. Boone and the pastor of the church, the Rev. Franklin H. Minck.

Announcement was made of the meeting at the church this evening when Dr. H. G. Guy, missionary in Japan for 16 years, and chairman of a committee collecting material for the book, "Re-thinking Missions," will discuss problems of Japan, Manchuria and western Russia.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEMBERS ENJOY LUNCHEON; PROGRAM; O'NEILL BOOK REVIEWED

ORANGE, Dec. 4.—Opening with a 1 o'clock courtesy luncheon under the direction of Mrs. Beryl B. Jackley, members of the Orange Woman's club shared a regular meeting of the organization Monday at the clubhouse, an interesting program following the luncheon. Carlisle Tupper, of Los Angeles, gave a review of "Ah, Wilderness," by Eugene O'Neill.

The luncheon tables were centered with bowls of yellow and orchid chrysanthemums and hostesses were Mrs. William Grecht, Mrs. W. O. Ahlman and Mrs. M. L. Pearson. Miss Jackley gave a short talk on dietetics. She called attention to the fact that in 1930 obesity was not widely prevalent in the United States and that bread was an important factor of diet. She said that sweets, not bread was the reason for the general increase in weight of people.

Mrs. Donald Smiley presided at the business meeting and an announcement was made of the annual Christmas party for the old people at the county hospital December 19 or December 20. Mrs. Fred Allen heads the committee in charge. Mrs. Alden asked for gifts for both men and women and stated that more gifts for men were needed as more men are at the hospital than women. Magazines, jellies and oranges are needed for the gifts, she said.

Mrs. G. L. Niles, head of the finance committee, announced that a rummage sale will be conducted by the club at El Modena on Friday and Saturday. Small articles such as beads and purses and ornaments are needed for the sale.

A letter was read from Mrs. Clara Haines in which she thanked members of the club for the many completed garments and comforters given the welfare store by this organization through its welfare committee.

Mrs. Benjamin Brubaker, chairman of the program committee, announced a program of Christmas carols for the coming meeting on December 17, when the Woman's club chorus will present the afternoon's entertainment. Miss Margaret Loeschner was introduced as a new member. Door prizes were awarded to Miss Lula Evans and Mrs. Harriet Smith, of Santa Barbara, a house guest of Mrs. Perry Groat.

The New Deal and the Joneses

Great Dam System May Benefit Whole U. S.

Day by day the Joneses become more familiar with the workings of the New Deal, as they take it up phase by phase and dissect it at the supper table and in their easy chairs in the evening. They've learned a lot in these little debates. This is the 12th article in the series that tells of the family's discussions.

By WILLIS THORNTON
CHAPTER THIRTEEN

"I may not be a radical," proclaimed Pa Jones, "but I don't think I'm an old mossback or a Tory either."

"When the government talked about developing great water power resources and 'electric empires,' I was all for that, especially because it makes work, and we need work."

"But when it comes to the government putting electric flatirons and eggbeaters on the market at cut rates, that's too many for me. If I was selling electrical appliances instead of groceries, I'd be plenty sore."

"That does seem like forcing the market a little, doesn't it?" admitted John Jr. "Of course the government wants to get people down there in the Tennessee Valley who never have used electricity before to start using it now."

"Probably some of them, after they've bought this government equipment at low prices and gotten used to using it, will buy other electrical equipment, too. The dealers may not lose out in the long run."

"I guess the government is really trying, even aside from the special projects it's backing, to make the

"These big dams serve other purposes than just to generate electricity. Most of them will help with irrigation, flood control, and navigation. They'll help stop erosion of farm lands, too."

Proof! "Had severe tightness through my chest. Foley's gave excellent results." O. E. Kirkpatrick.

country use more electricity. That will help bring rates down for everybody else."

Hoover Vetoes Plan
Strange overturn, surely, from four short years ago, when President Hoover vetoed the Norris bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals. Hoover saw no reason why the government should not pour tens of millions down that rat-hole in wartime, but not a cent for running it in peacetime to try to get some of the millions back!

Today, the government is running it, and enlarging it into a string of dams and the Tennessee Valley regional development. In the southwest, at Boulder Dam, rises another such project (begun by Hoover, by the way).

In the northwest, two great dams begin a similar system on the Columbia, and in the northeast waits the St. Lawrence development, spread out only on paper, because Congress turned it down at the last session.

Add in the fact that the Reclamation Service is already operating 23 hydro-electric dams, and that besides the "big four" named above, Public Works funds went to 97 municipal and county electric projects in 30 states, and you can see how big an effort is being made to make America "kilowatt-conscious."

Has Indirect Benefit
"All that's very nice for the people who happen to live in the Tennessee Valley or the Columbia Valley," commented Pa Jones, "but we aren't any of them. What do we get out of all this electric hullabaloo?"

"Not much directly," admitted John Jr. "But indirectly, we stand to get something out of it. All these big projects are going to sell power pretty cheap. They form 'yardsticks' to measure the rate of private companies."

"In cities like this one, where charges are pretty steep, it helps to be able to cite figures from the government plants. Quite a few cities outside the Tennessee region have received reduction, because the companies notice that cities hesitate less now to go ahead and build their own plants if they don't like the rates."

"And of course, in the cities served by the government plants, they get cheap rates quickly. At Tupelo, Miss., (that's the first city to get Tennessee Valley Authority power), I noticed just the other day that rates fell quite a lot, and 75 per cent more electricity was used."

Pa Fears Competition

"There may be some excuse for the government going into the electric business down in Tennessee," objected Pa, "but this Tennessee Valley Authority seems to be going the whole hog."

"I hear it's going to make cement and pottery and starch, buy and sell real estate, and loan money. What on earth else won't it be doing pretty soon? They ought to stop somewhere."

"Because, in the long run, government competition isn't fair. It runs on cheap money that the government can borrow at lower rates than anyone else, and it pays no taxes. I guess it can drive anybody out of business if it wants to."

"And here's another thing. All this cheap water power electricity is a great idea. But what's going to happen to the miners who've been mining the coal to run the present coal-fired generating plants?"

"I notice a committee of Alabama coal operators say this TVA thing will throw 7000 miners out of work."

"It's got to make happy homes for a decent of a lot of people before you come out even on a proposition like that."

Stem Floods, Save Land
"Of course, I don't know just how that'll work out," admitted John Jr., "but you want to remember that all these big dams serve other purposes than just to generate electricity. Most of them will help with irrigation, and flood control, and even navigation."

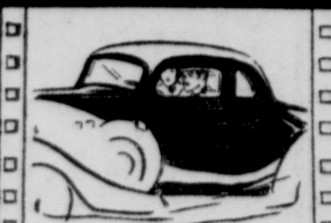

"They'll help stop erosion of farm land and loss by silting up of channels and low farm land. There should be a lot of good effects from them besides just the electric power angle."

"Also, they tie in with what we were talking about the other night, with the idea of getting people to move out of the big cities and start a new kind of life. Around every one of these dams there ought to be small towns and communities where there'll be cheap electric power, and where a man can live as well as in town, as far as conveniences are concerned, and yet be in the country."

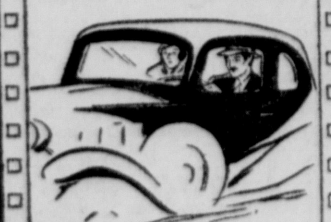

Helps Attract Industry
"The cheaper power ought to bring some industries to the dams,

GREAT HERD OF SEALS VISITS COUNTY COAST

A herd of seals, the like of which has never been seen within the memory of pioneers, is swarming along the shallow waters off shore at Huntington Beach and between that community and Newport Beach according to reports today from the beach city. For three miles along shore the waters of the Pacific ocean were black with seals that arrived on Thanksgiving Day.

Hundreds of people have visited the beach to see the unusual sight. The seals are usually found in herds of a dozen or two, but the present migration consists of herds of seals estimated to run from 10,000 to 15,000 and when these herds gang up as they did along shore on Thanksgiving Day, the sight is one to be remembered, according to those who witnessed it.

The seals raise a great commotion, barking and leaping and playing in the waters, with some of the huge leaders apparently in some sort of authority or leadership. Some believe the seals have come up this year in large numbers from Mexican waters and for some unusual reason, possibly because of abundance of fish here this season, have lingered along the shore line during the mating season.

5 Requests Acted On By City Board

Five applications came before the planning commission and city council last night, including the request to open a maternity home at 2415 North Main street, which has been the subject of considerable controversy among nearby residents, and which was denied.

A special committee composed of Councilman Fred Rowland, William Penn and A. F. LeGaye reported that they concurred with the recommendation of the planning commission in denying the permit. They explained that since special use for a neighborhood business zone would have to be granted, and there had been sufficient protest to prevent it, the permit should not be granted.

There is no discussion volunteered from the audience and it was voted to deny the permit on motion of Plummer Bruns.

When no objection was made to the making of alterations on the Seventh Day Adventist church at Fifteenth and Sycamore streets, the council voted to permit the work. The planning commission had recommended that the special use permit be granted.

On recommendation of the planning commission that property at 711 South Broadway was in a single residence zone and should not be opened to a medical, surgical and dental clinic, the council denied the application for such use made by the Rev. U. E. Harding.

On similar grounds, and because he made no request to change the zoning, Delbert Keiser, 1311 Cypress avenue, was denied permission to manufacture, sell and peddle candy from his home.

No recommendation was made by the commission and the permit was denied by the council.

W. J. Harper, 902 East Fourth street, made application to conduct a new and used store to sell new and second hand clothing, furniture and household articles. His request was referred to the police chief and police commissioner for a report next week.

POSTPONE ACTION ON BOWLING GREEN

By mutual consent of the city council and the 30-39 club, no action was taken yesterday on a proposition to locate a bowling green court on city property, with labor to be provided by the S.E.R.A. J. Wayne Harrison of the service club met with the council and the proposed location north of the municipal bowl was virtually discarded after a thorough discussion.

A regulation green is 120 feet square and the space north of the bowl is hardly wide enough to permit ample playing room. It was also pointed out that crowds attending bowl functions might trample the greens.

It was suggested that the grounds might be located on city property on North Bristol street. The investigation will be continued for another week.

PLAN PROJECT TO GIVE WORK TO S. A. MEN

Designed to offer work to more Santa Ana men and convert the Santiago creek bed from a flood hazard to an improved park area, an S.E.R.A. project was tentatively approved by the city council last night, to the extent that City Engineer J. L. McBride was authorized to secure detailed plans and specifications of the proposal.

While McBride is preparing data for study by the city council next Monday night, an S.E.R.A. project will be framed and submitted to the county administration for approval today and is then expected to be sent on to San Francisco. By following this procedure, the council can save valuable time in case the decision is made to start the work. If the project is too expensive or is deemed inadvisable at any time, negotiations may be halted at once.

The area to be improved lies between Main street and Santiago street to the east, where county workers are soon to start in developing the area from Santiago street to Glassell avenue. The water channel would be deepened, the course of the creek straightened and the banks built up with rock taken from the creek bed, according to preliminary plans.

Terrence Halloran, acting county S.E.R.A. director and Dr. George A. Warner, a member of the county board, appeared before the council and asked that Santa Ana submit a project to put more men to work. They pointed out that with more than 900 men in Santa Ana on the S.E.R.A. rolls, less than 75 were employed in the city and the local work was dwindling rapidly.

Provision of Santa Ana work would bring more payroll money here and save the men transportation to other parts of the county, they said.

The creek project was especially urged because it would put to work from 150 to 250 or more men for two or three months, and give a maximum of improvement for a minimum of capital outlay on the part of the city. McBride estimated that the cost would be mainly for the acquisition of rights-of-way, and for picks, shovels, wheelbarrows and cement. Sand and gravel could be secured in the creek bed and the rest of the work would be man power, he said.

Since Orange has already built a park east of Glassell and the county supervisors have authorized work to begin on the adjoining area to the west, the S.E.R.A. heads envisioned the Santa Ana project as a third link in a future park area along the creek.

Although McBride emphasized that he had no definite idea of the exact expenses of such a project, he estimated that the minimum would be $5000, with the cost to vary according to the generosity of terms given by the owners of land adjoining the creek. It was believed by the councilmen that because of the worthless value of the creek bottom and the possibility of putting so many men to work during the winter months, there would be little opposition in securing the necessary land.

Since the action of the council was embodied in a resolution to be submitted to the S.E.R.A., a unanimous roll call vote to pass the measure was given by the trustees.

Judge J. G. Mitchell collected $488 in the street improvement fund and $402.50 for the general fund for a total of $890.50.

There were 82 building permits issued for a collection of $235.50, which added to plastering permits of $4.50, made a total report of $239.55 from Building Inspector Sam Preble.

Electrical Inspector W. O. Packard issued 26 permits and collected $61.50. Plumbing Inspector Harry Crowe issued 85 plumbing permits for a valuation of $5951 and collected $138.50. Eight sewer permits totaled $5, to make a total report of $143.50.

BANANA PLANTS PRODUCE FRUIT IN SANTA ANA

Bananas grow in Central America but they grow in Santa Ana too, as can be seen by the accompanying picture, which shows a fine bunch of the fruit grown at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. R. Crawford, 415 South Broadway.

There are three tall plants in the backyard of the Crawford home, and the bunch of 30 bananas shown in the picture has just been ripened. Mrs. Crawford explained that few persons know how to ripen bananas and think they should be left on the tree, whereas the best method is to cut when green, wrap the bunch in burlap, turn upside down and store in a dark place.

The largest of the bananas measured from eight to nine inches in length and were seven inches in circumference, in comparison to the average five inch circumference of commercially-grown bananas. The Crawford fruit have a taste similar to commercially-grown bananas.

Fruit in all stages of development is growing on the three plants, including a flowering bloom of deep red color, the small bunch with the leaves gone, and a green bunch that had not matured. The plants ranged up to 25 feet in height and had a thick foliage of large leaves.

SCHOOL GUARDS TO BE MADE OFFICERS

During their work as school crossing guards under the S.E.R.A., the 31 men employed for Santa Ana will be special city police officers without pay, it was decided by the city council last night, on recommendation of Police Chief Floyd Howard.

The men will now have power to make arrests in case of emergency and have been issued special police badges, in addition to the regulation white and blue caps.

Men appointed last night include Adolphus Dolichide, R. E. Dunham, R. J. Reynolds, C. L. Coleman, G. R. Vanlandingham, H. G. Truman, J. A. Green, J. C. Brown, R. H. Day, Oliver DuRoi, P. M. Stevens, N. I. Sheeley, C. A. Seleck, D. C. Gilbert, J. L. Cunningham, W. J. Smith, E. C. Nare, E. V. Backley, M. J. Miller, J. E. Province, B. M. Hooper, W. M. Jones, C. P. Namara, E. W. Harmon, Mack Russell, J. L. Larsen, Sidney Thirkell, R. L. Haunes, E. A. Baldwin and A. B. Cline.

The cornerstone of the original U. S. Capitol was laid by President Washington on Sept. 18, 1793.

Code Stops Bid-Buying By County

Of the two tractors and two automobiles authorized recently by the county supervisors as new equipment for the county road department, to replace old equipment, one tractor and one car have so far been purchased, according to County Purchasing Agent F. W. Slabaugh.

One caterpillar tractor for use west of the Santa Ana river was purchased from Lynn Ostrander, Santa Ana dealer. The car purchased was a Ford, to replace a Ford at the Santa Ana yard. It was bought from McCoy and Mills, Fullerton dealer.

The other tractor will be a four-wheel machine for boulevard use. The other car will be a small model, to replace a Ford at the Garden Grove yard.

The new car recently authorized for the sheriff's office, to replace an old car that has been in service nearly eight years, has not been selected, Dr. Slabaugh announced.

Explaining the method of purchase, he said that the county now is operating under code requirements, so that there is no question of obtaining the lowest bids. For that reason the business is being distributed among dealers as far as possible, he said.

USE OF MUSEUM GRANTED PLAYERS

The Santa Ana Community Players were granted permission by the city council last night to hold a Christmas party in the Bowers Memorial museum at Twentieth and North Main streets on Thursday, December 20. Mrs. Eleanor Norcross of the Players addressed the request to the council.

The council also accepted the suggestion of City Auditor Lloyd Banks that he be given authority to grant use of the museum to small groups, when there are open dates and the museum board is agreeable. This will not make it necessary for each application to come before the city council.

PLANS BEING MADE FOR BIG DOG SHOW HERE

Plans for an international dog show in Santa Ana in the near future are being made by J. A. Boegman, well known dog fancier of this city, and John Bradshaw, of the American Kennel club, according to announcement made today by Boegman, who is looking for a suitable location to stage the show.

Boegman and Bradshaw attended the annual dog show held in Los Angeles Saturday and Sunday and received promise of a number of entries from some of the largest kennels in the country. Boegman conditioned the terms shown for the Humboldt Kennel. Many dogs from Orange county were entered in the Los Angeles show.

For many years he judged and entered dogs in the dog shows in all parts of Europe. He is considered an expert judge and conditioner of show dogs. Bradshaw, who is endeavoring to promote the Santa Ana show is known throughout the nation and has exhibited and judged dogs for years.

LEGION REQUESTS USE OF CITY LOT

Councilmen Fred Rowland and Plummer Bruns were appointed last night to investigate an application of the American Legion drum and bugle corps to sell Christmas trees on the vacant lot at Third and Main streets, owned by the city.

F. H. Halber, commanding officer of the organization, requested free use of the lot from December 5 to 25 and said that proceeds from the sale would help defray expenses of his group. Rowland and Bruns were given power to act in their investigation.

Bridge Party Guests Present Linens To Prospective Bride

Prominent among the parties inspired by recent announcement of Miss Julia Thorndike's engagement to Robert Hull of Alhambra, was a bridge party and linen shower at which Mrs. Paul Grand (Eleanor Randall) and Miss Violet Boege entertained late last week in the lovely old Randall home on East Seventeenth street, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wright. Mrs. Wright was Miss Helen Randall.

The recent Thanksgiving holiday dominated decorations in autumn shades amidst which tables were played for bridge, both forms of which, auction and contract, were played. Miss Betty Garraway scored high in contract and Mrs. Joe Irwin in auction, so to them was presented attractive prizes.

While the games paraphernalia was being cleared away and card tables re-arranged with dainty linens and china for serving a salad course, Miss Thorndike was escorted to the dining room. There, surrounded by her friends, she had the pleasure of claiming the tissue-wrapped, ribbon-tied packages which overflowed the table. Gifts added many treasures to the linen chest of the popular young bride-elect. The wedding of Miss Thorndike and Mr. Hull is to take place next Sunday morning in the bride chapel of First M. E. church.

In her honor, the hostesses, Mrs. Grand and Miss Boege, had assembled a guest list including the mothers of the engaged pair, Mrs. Alfred H. Thorndike of this city and Mrs. Frank Hull of Alhambra; Mesdames Alfred Tisnerat of Corona, Francis Wright, William Jerome Jr., Roger Hearne, Ernest Crumrine, Clarence Jackson, Harold Dale, Clifford Quisel, Francis Norton, Robert Guild, Fayette Birtcher of Anaheim, George Bradley, Jack Bradley, Thomas Jentes, Gordon Nelson, Jack Jordan, Alvin Stauffer, Roger Zeiser, Carl Loerch, Francis Selway, George Horton, Joe Irwin, Harold Viera, of Fullerton, Margaret Elliott, Robert Goetting, the Misses Eleanor Ralston, Betty Garraway, Grace Wright of Pasadena, Helen Spangler, Loretta Spangler, Georgia Turner, Alice Majors, Mary Emil Majors, Lucy Holmes, Betty Smith, Helen Glancy, Frances Parks, Pat Olyphant and Margaret Guard.

Sorority Gives Tea For Three Rushees

The Misses Virginia Hillyard, Marie McGinnis and Dorothy Elder were guests at a rush tea given Sunday afternoon when Pi Theta Chi sorority entertained in the home of Miss Frances Roberts on Lyon street.

Tea was served from a table appointed with floral center-piece and tapers in green and gold, the sorority colors. Corsage clusters of yellow chrysanthemums were presented to the three guests.

Miss Ruth Hawley gave a Christmas reading and a piano solo. Others present with the hostess, Miss Roberts and the three rushees were the Misses Carol Smith, Winifred Schneider, Helen Manderscheid, Ruth Souder, Mary Alice White, Lucille Crawford, Mary Louise Niedergall, Betty Niedergall, Martha Tadlock, Charlene Kite and Lorraine Shippe.

"Citizenship" Offers Program Theme For Chapter Meeting

Giving an address on Citizenship, Judge Homer C. Ames was speaker Saturday afternoon at a meeting of Santa Ana chapter D. A. R. held in the home of Mrs. O. S. Catland, 419 Wellington avenue. Mrs. F. E. Earel, citizenship chairman, arranged the program.

Judge Ames' talk seemed especially timely, since the chapter will have part in the current citizenship class graduation ceremonies to be held this month at the courthouse.

Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, refreshment chairman, had assistance of a committee composed of Mesdames John Backus, Earl Morris and Marietta Phillee. Mrs. M. C. Hoy and Mrs. Minnie Holmes poured tea from a table made colorful with Thanksgiving appointments.

Members brought comforters, warm clothing and other gifts for the Indians. Those who have not yet made their donations are asked to get in touch with either Mrs. Henry Guthrie or Mrs. George W. Bond.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM
Luncheon
One deviled egg sandwich
Quarter-head lettuce with cottage cheese dressing
1 ripe apple
Clear tea.
Calory total, 237.
Allow hard boiled egg for two sandwich fillings. Mash fine and mix with mustard and mineral oil mayonnaise, salt, pepper, paprika, etc., until the flavor suits you. Spread on slices of whole wheat bread and cut diagonally. For the cottage cheese dressing allow 1 rounded tablespoonful of cottage cheese for each person served. Blend lightly with diet mayonnaise and pour over the section of crisp lettuce, well loosened up.

Here is a main dish that the children will like, and thrive on. In one move you make them "eat and like," a vegetable they need for growth, creamy milk with its important vitamin, and eggs, a splendid protein for children.

Carrot Ring
4 cups cooked mashed carrot
4 tbsps. crumbs
4 eggs, whites beaten stiff
1 cup thin cream
1 tsp. salt.
Combine mashed carrot, cream, egg yolks beaten, crumbs and salt. Fold in the beaten whites, pour into a buttered mould and steam for 1 1/2 hours. Unmould and serve with creamed chicken, eggs, tuna, or any preferred food contrast.

Steamed in individual moulds, (little glass ramekins, may be), with a garnish of creamed chicken, the combination would make a very nice party menu, don't you think?

Escalloped Brains
1 pound brains, preferably veal
1 cup bread crumbs
4 heaping tbsps. butter
2 tbsps. milk
Salt and pepper.

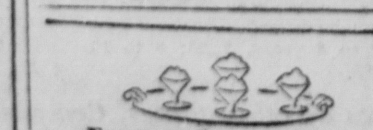

Wash brains, removing all bloody membrane; put in colander to drain. Saute the crumbs in hot butter until crisp. Cut brains in small pieces. Put a layer of brains in a shallow buttered baking dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper, then a layer of crumbs, continuing in like fashion until the crumbs finish the top of dish. Dot with bits of butter, dribble the milk evenly over top and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

Cranberry Shortcake
2 cups ripe apples, and
2 cups raw cranberries, run through food grinder
1 1/2 cups sugar
Rich biscuit dough
Sweetened whipped cream.

It is best to make the cranberry some time in advance to let the mixture ripen in sugar. For the shortcake part, use the convenient ready mixed biscuit flour, making it rich by mixing with thin cream. Roll thin, cut in rounds and bake in a hot oven. Put two thin rounds together with the cranberry mixture, a spoonful over the top, then a garnish of whipped cream.

The cranberry-apple filling keeps for weeks in the refrigerator, and besides being a grand shortcake filling, is an appetizing garnish for roast pork or chops of veal or pork.

The escalloped brain, serving 6, has an individual calory total of 350. The cranberry shortcake, serving 8, has a calory value of 460 per person.

Schilling Vanilla
Frozen Desserts must be delicate in flavor. That's where true Vanilla counts. That's where Schilling Vanilla counts.

Yule Bridge Party for Elks' Wives Planned by Committee

Calling together members of her committee and those who will serve as hostesses at the December party for Elks' wives and friends, Mrs. Robert Walker, social chairman for the party series, last night entertained in her home, 1202 West Fifth street.

As the next in this series is scheduled for Friday afternoon, committee members completed their hospitable plans for the affair which will be definitely on the Christmas theme. This will apply to all decorative effects and to the tea menu to be served at the conclusion of play. Both auction and contract bridge will be played and hostesses at the affair will be Mesdames V. L. Motry, Don Hill, Charles Adams and Frank Brigante. They have asked guests to be prompt in arrivals so that play may begin promptly at 2 o'clock.

Joining the social chairman, Mrs. Walker, and the party hostesses in their discussion of plans were Mesdames Charles D. Swanner, Earl Abbey, Harold Brown, William Garvin, Gilbert P. Campbell, John Miller and Don Jerome. As a conclusion to the evening, Mrs. Walker served light refreshments.

CUT WITH A BIAS PANEL FOR FIGURE FLATTERY

PATTERN 2076

By ANNE ADAMS

Women who know how important to the general chic of their outer wardrobes are well-cut slips, are strongly biased in favor of bias-cut slips. And you can easily see why they should be if you study the cleverly designed slip illustrated. Notice that it has no side seams—instead there is a bias cut panel running from waist to hem and extending part-way front and part-way back to meet the seams of the front and back panels that are cut on the straight of the fabric to prevent twisting. This affords a give-and-take to the garment that means longer life to the slip, greater comfort for you, and smoother lines for your figure!

Pattern 2076 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 takes 27-8 yards 89 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step, sewing instructions included.

Birthday Celebration Is Accorded Many Unique Features

One of the happiest celebrations of attaining one's majority, fell to the fortunate lot of Miss Virginia Walbridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron B. Walbridge, 2222 North Main street, who in Friday night was complimented by Mr. and Mrs. Heber Fowler of West Santa Clara avenue, at a party given in the Biltmore Bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler entertained at a supper dance, reserving a floor-side table where their guests were assembled at 9:30 o'clock. Special features of the evening developed at 11:30 o'clock when ballroom lights were dimmed, and a spotlight directed at the table as the head waiter appeared with a birthday cake. This was an elaborately decorated confection, sparkling with 21 candles and it was the happy privilege of Miss Walbridge to cut the first slice as the orchestra played "Somebody's Birthday."

The host proposed a toast to the honor guest, which members of the party drank in champagne before resuming dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler's guests included in addition to Miss Virginia Walbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sloan of Los Angeles, (Mrs. Sloan was Miss Evelyn Walbridge); Miss Nancy Wakeham of Pasadena, Miss Catherine Walbridge of this city, Messrs Charles Jackson of Long Beach, Philip Nevin and Lawrence Walbridge of Pasadena.

'Industrial Eden' Still Blockaded

A grim reminder of the savage and fatal rioting that swept the "model town" last July, these barricades still bar from Kohler, Wis., all except those who can show business within the town. Despite a protested industrial election in September won by the "company union" over the "outside union," picketing continues and the situation at the plants of former Governor Walter Kohler remains strained.

The girl said the child "just took up with her."

Cardinal Given Babe Understands Roar of the Crowd in Japanese, Too Golden Chalice

Presentation of a golden chalice to William Cardinal O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, was part of the ceremony marking 50 years in the Roman Catholic priesthood for the venerable prelate, who is shown here with the communion cup during the rites at Catholic University, Washington, D. C.

Tens of thousands of Japanese welcomed Babe Ruth to Tokyo with a frenzy of enthusiasm that sports celebrities seldom have encountered anywhere in the world. The milling mob swarmed in the streets, surrounded his car and practically brought it to a standstill. Babe is shown at right, vociferously greeting his welcomers with shouts and waving hand in reply to their "Banzai!", which means "may you live 10,000 years". He went to Japan as a member of a team of barnstorming baseball players.

Suits, coats, dresses and other necessities are being manufactured under Ohio's "miniature EPIC plan."

Millions Made in War Fail to Buy Peace for Zaharoff

The millions he has amassed by serving the war god can not bring peace to Sir Basil Zaharoff, king of munitions salesmen, in his last years. Back of the high walls of his chateau north of Paris the 82-year-old Levantine armament king lives closely guarded, his finger still on the pulse of his vast business affairs. His chateau of Balincourt adjoins the village of the same name, shown in the top picture, all of which he has purchased. At left below is a sign, "Domain of Balincourt, private road, forbidden to public," which warns visitors from the mammoth estate. Suggestive of Zaharoff's shadowy role in European intrigue is the center photo showing indistinctly the face of Europe's "man of mystery" as he peers through the window of his specially built automobile. At right is a re-tainer with one of the vicious dogs that guard the master's privacy.

"You're right," replied the Mystic Man. "I'll do the very best I can. In fact I have a hunch right now that ought to work out great."

"I won't tell what it is, just yet, but it will tickle you, I bet. You Tintins have what fun you can while you stay here and wait."

Just then the castle giant came into the room. "It is a shame that I am kept so small," said he. "I'll promise I'll be good."

"I beg of you, oh Mystic Man, please make me big, now, if you can," Then Little Doty shouted, "Sure! I really think you should!"

"The giant's been real good to us. I'm certain he won't start a fuss when he is twice as big as we are. If he does, we'll run."

"You see, while you are looking round this place to see what can be found to take us through the air, we may be having lots of fun."

Beach City Permits For Year In Gain

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 4.—Possibility of building permits for the art colony during the current year reaching the quarter of a million mark was seen today in figures released by City Building Inspector Floyd W. Case, showing an aggregate of $221,708 for the first 11 months of the year.

Last year the total for the same period stood at $91,125. Belief that the year's total will run close to or possibly pass the $250,000 mark is supported by the fact that a number of major building projects are under consideration which may be started before January 1.

Permits for the month of November, this year, totaled $13,300 as compared to $5780 for the corresponding month of last year.

Permits issued recently included one to Kenneth A. Gordon, 510 Graceland drive, dwelling, $1700; Mr. and Mrs. Olasabal, 513 Cliff drive, dwelling, $1000; the Rev. Raymond I. Brahams, 473 Aster street, addition, $600; and Norma White, 1474 Coast boulevard, south, addition, $400.

SILVER FOX FARM TO BE IMPROVED

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 4.—Plans for adding to the present equipment at his silver fox farm and establishing a park in the front of his property were announced today by H. K. Keepers with the close of the pelting season.

Keepers is retaining 40 of the animals for breeding purposes, the remainder either being pelted or sold alive to fur concerns.

Food for the animals is prepared in a special kitchen. The morning meal consists of dried figs, while the evening meal is alternated. One day the animals are fed a preparation of nine ingredients, while the next night they are given food consisting of 27 ingredients.

Each fox is tattooed with the owner's initials to aid identification in case of theft. Care is used in handling the animals, a special pair of tongs being used to prevent the owner from being bitten.

According to Keepers, the animals are very alert to noises at night and always warn him of any intruders near the pens.

BEAN LAND PLOWED

TALBERT, Dec. 4.—Fall plowing for next year's lima bean crop has started with the drying of the land from the recent rains. On the 100-acre John Pope ranch 12 acres are being plowed by Paul Plavan to a depth of 44 inches. The Plavan plow was conceded to be the largest ever built when he invented it two years ago. Land plowed to this depth last year produced heavily, it was reported.

CONTRACTS ON PIER SIGNED BY BEACH COUNCIL

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 4.—Two much discussed problems of the Newport Beach fishing industry were settled at Monday's meeting of the city council, when it was decided to renew the lease for live bait stand privileges on the Newport pier in the favor of George Hiner, present renter, and to award a contract for the exclusive privilege of loading and unloading passengers to live bait boats from the Newport pier to Darrell W. King.

The question of the live bait stand franchise on the pier had been thrown open to discussion at a meeting of the council a month ago, when it was learned others wished to bid for the franchise. Hiner, it was pointed out, had installed approximately $1700 worth of equipment on the pier during the years he has had the lease. The council granted Hiner a two-year lease, in return for which he agreed to deed title to his property and equipment on the pier to the city.

Two bids were entered for the passenger loading rights. King offering a flat payment of $1300 yearly for the privilege, or $500 and a five cent head tax. W. J. Gehres, Newport Beach, entered the other bid, offering to pay $240 per year, plus head tax. King will have one live bait boat for year around service, and a minimum of three during the summer, with as many more as needed, it was explained.

The suit for $10,000 of Dick Swift, former Junior college athlete, against the city of Newport Beach, will be settled out of court if possible, it was decided. Swift, who formerly played football for the Los Angeles Junior college, fell on a sidewalk on Balboa Island a year ago, injuring his back, and has instituted suit against the city to recover damages. It was decided to offer $2250 as a compromise payment. It was planned to install electrical equipment at the new water and sewer plants up to 250 horsepower, in order to come under a one cent electrical rate. Using the present equipment the city is paying 1.75 cents per kilowatt hour. It is estimated that approximately $2500 per year will be saved by this means.

No final decision on the location or size of the projected water system will be made for another month, city engineer R. L. Patterson stated, as test wells being started today will not be finished for at least three weeks.

The city will immediately bill the Property Owners Association of Lido Isle for back rentals on street endings on the island, amounting to approximately $5000. The association had agreed to rent the street endings from the city, it was explained, and has defaulted. The city will take back title to the property, as the association is not expected to pay the sum due.

Taxes due to the sum of $1700 on tide lands north of Lido Isle, which were acquired by the city as a preliminary to government dredging work, were cancelled. A request for $63 damages caused by a plugged drain flooding his basement was denied William Newman, Newport Beach. The request of the Pacific Boat works for permission to build commercial ways on its bay property was granted.

Infections such as the common cold can be guarded against by a plentiful supply of butter, eggs, and green or yellow vegetables in the daily diet.

SEEK COMMUNITY SUPPORT FOR PLAYGROUND PROJECT

YORBA LINDA, Dec. 4.—All Yorba Linda community organizations are to be solicited for assistance in carrying on the playground program now under way at the old school site, just east of the Friends church, and the Rev. Joseph Reese, pastor of the church was appointed Monday by H. A. Caspari, president of chamber of commerce, to co-ordinate the organizations.

At present, under the Parent-Teacher association, several men are at work leveling and preparing the ground of the old site. With the new plans effective the grounds will be made into a community playground and will have on them tennis courts, horseshoe grounds, barbecue pits, and other paraphernalia.

In discussing the project Monday, it was agreed at the chamber of commerce meeting that the combined efforts of the community will be needed to create interest and to finance the small expense connected with labor, which is being supplied under the SERA.

Other business included appointment of S. N. Rosedale as chairman of the nominating committee. Officers are to be elected at a meeting December 17.

George Kellogg reported on the Imperial Highway association, announcing the next meeting for December 8 at El Centro.

SEEK FUND TO ASSIST NEEDY OF BEACH CITY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 4.—A committee of a dozen women, members of the American Legion auxiliary, P. T. A. and Woman's club, appeared before the city council last night and asked the council to contribute $150 toward a fund of $300 to be used to buy Christmas baskets for the poor of the city.

Mrs. Del Burry spoke for the committee of women, stating that this work had been carried on here annually and that organizations doing charity work would raise $150, but that at least $300 would be required. The council referred the matter to the committee in charge of publicity and promotion with power to act.

Charles Derigo asked and was granted a license to conduct an off sale liquor business at 421 Main street.

City Engineer Harry Overmeyer offered a new fire zone in conformity with the new uniform municipal building code recently adopted by the council. The new fire zone, which is No. 3, takes in all the city not included in fire zones Nos. 1 and 2. There is no oil drilling allowed in fire zones, but it is said the council does not propose to stop oil drilling over the city, and that the old ordinance about drilling in fire zones will be amended so as to except fire zone No. 3.

City bills were allowed and reports of city officers read and approved. The financial report of Mayor Butcher, city treasurer, showed $67,810.88 in the treasury. Spendable money includes $32,599.52 in the general fund, $2342.76, music and promotion fund, a little over $3000 in the library fund.

The waste oil municipal system is slowly gaining in receipts. This month it brought the city $192.

The police department answered 177 calls, recovered two stolen autos and one stolen bike, checked street lights and found and closed dozens of store doors and windows opened. Forty-eight arrests were made in November and the city court collected $156 in fines.

Hobby Show Slated For December 8

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 4.—The hobby show to be staged at the city auditorium Saturday will be the first of its kind ever held here. The show is sponsored by the Woman's Relief corps, with Mrs. Minnie Higgins as general chairman. Musical numbers will be given at intervals during the afternoon and evening of the show and a tea room will serve light luncheon to the visitors.

Since the entries have been coming in many unusual hobbies among the citizens have been discovered. A rare collection of fine dolls from practically every country of the world will be displayed by Miss Jean Tarbox. Harlan Reid, elementary school instructor, will have on display several of the fine violins which he has made. J. G. Macklin will show a collection of firearms. Other hobby displays will be miniature sail boats, by Martin Murray; coins, by H. L. Grant; stamps, by R. W. Schafer; antique furniture, Mrs. Mollie Hardy; photographs by Dr. Lawrence Whitaker and Art Wilson; curios from foreign lands, Tim Talbert; antique clothing, Mrs. Mildred Ridenour; scrap books, W. L. Henderson; rock collection, by George Wardwell; antique dishes, Mrs. Pearl Jones.

Laguna Players To Give 'Cricket On Hearth' Dec. 21, 22

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 4.—Wayne Moore, manager of the Laguna Beach Civic players, performing at the Little Arts theater on Thalia street, today announced that his group will present "The Cricket on the Hearth," Dicken's famous Christmas story, dramatized and directed by Dewey Deal, December 21 and 22.

Miss Deal, formerly of Redlands and Hollywood, is known as the author and director of "Beethoven's Symphony," which was presented here last summer.

Among players secured for the cast are Raymond Grimes, Doreen Pilling, Priscilla Frazer, Ruth Ross, Charles Radford and Herbert Caldwell.

NEW DIRECTORS SELECTED FOR FESTIVAL BODY

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 4.—Administration of the Festival of Arts association was turned over to an entirely new board of directors, nominated from the floor and elected by members present, at a meeting held Monday night.

The new board is made up of Frank Hovener, Luther F. Malow, Frederick Heckman, Mrs. Elmer Hutchings, Ajax Wolf, John Jehle and Miss Virginia Woolley. The newly elected directors will meet within a few days and elect their own officers, following which they will take over the affairs of the corporation.

The retiring board, whose members without exception, declined nomination for re-election, was made up of Capt. George A. Portus, who served as president; George K. Brandriff, first vice president; John C. Gibson, treasurer; Gene Douglas, secretary; Howard G. Hester, Arthur J. Stead and Roy M. Ropp, members.

Captain Portus presided over the meeting, which was attended by a limited number of corporation members. Differences as to what constitutes membership in the corporation, it being held that only those who have joined the corporation are vested with voting rights and eligible to holding office, defeated a proposal to have the various art groups represented on the board as the choice of their respective organizations.

Pythian Sisters To Elect Dec. 6

The social committee for the evening is composed of Mesdames Nell Thompson, Jennie Stone, Vera Hawkins, Emma Wassum, Beulah Hamilton and W. H. Thompson. All members are urged to be present.

BIGGER AND BETTER RECOVERY
BLITHELY PREDICTED

Prosperity certainly is coming back. Retail business is steadily on the increase. Some companies are able to increase their dividends and pay extra ones, but, chief of all, the United States Chamber of Commerce is able to have a meeting and blithely and with dignity tell the country exactly how complete normalcy will be restored.

A year and a half ago, with the conditions confronting America, which had been brought about by business, led by those who compose the United States Chamber of Commerce, the leaders were hopelessly at sea and knew no way out.

Now, with legislation enacted and operating, most of which has been criticized, undermined and in every manner opposed by these leaders, they meet together and are able to express themselves with confidence and dispatch, advising the country as to the route which we should travel.

President Henry I. Harriman, in his address, takes issue at once with the National Economy league on the balancing of the budget. The National Economy league had a program showing how the budget could be balanced.

The consensus of opinion of most thinking men in the country, is that it would be impossible, with our present unemployment problem before us, to balance the budget. Mr. Harriman, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, sees this very clearly. He said, in his address yesterday:

No one appreciates more keenly than I the need of a balanced budget, or of stabilized exchange, but I realize that neither of them is possible until the unemployed have been put back to work in private industry and until the extraordinary expenditures which the government is now forced to make for relief are adjusted.

In this attitude, Mr. Harriman supports the administration. In his address he favors a seven point program. First he urges a program of people owning their own homes and partial subsistence homes, so that they would not be dependent entirely upon wages. This, the administration is endeavoring to carry out. He proposes reserves for sickness, accident, unemployment and old age, but strangely adds much the same language that President Roosevelt used a few weeks ago, suggesting a gradual and evolutionary approach to these.

He would secure the investments of the people by law. He O. K.s the constructive attitude of the Securities commission. He suggests that they remove many of the "ruthless elements" of competition and create better relationships between employer and employee. He would do this by revising the Recovery act, making business self-governing, with the government serving as umpire. In the published dispatches of his speech, he made no reference to the employee.

In fact, every suggestion that he has made, the government has already put into operation, and undoubtedly the only difference between his ideas and Roosevelt's is that of details and degree and not of kind.

He closed by suggesting that we should mold our relief organizations so that they would administer to vital needs and become a stepping stone to a real job.

Nearly every phase of his remarks is open to difference of interpretation. For example, "vital needs" for the unemployed would involve a difference of opinion as to what that term would cover or include. For example, with some, a "vital need" is a toothbrush and a bath; with others, this is unnecessary.

GERMANY AND FRANCE ENTER INTO AGREEMENT

Wonder of wonders! Germany and France have entered into an agreement in regard to the Saar, covering the elements of election, and the conditions which follow.

Every lover of peace will be happy in this agreement entered into between the Germans and the French. It looked as though conflict were inevitable.

We did not believe that Germany would pay France $150,000,000 and eleven million tons of coal as compensation. The mines, it will be recalled, were given to France in the Versailles treaty.

The three points in the agreement are first, Germany guarantees that non-voters in the Saar shall have the same standing as voters; second, all inhabitants will have equal rights to social insurance and state assistance; third, equal rights are guaranteed regardless of language, race and religion.

This agreement will be presented to the League of Nations. It certainly will afford relief to the people of the world to know that these two nations have agreed on this terribly controversial question, and that under the terms of the agreement, the Jews are protected in the Saar.

While there will be those who will declare that Germany will not live up to this agreement, yet it is possible that she may do so and, in any case, it temporarily solves a problem that many believed was insoluble.

Peace is certainly "up" a great many points on the market today, and millions of parents can breathe easier. We know of some in France ourselves, who will find this the greatest cause for rejoicing and thanksgiving.

THE FOREIGN DEBTS

On December 15, our government will go through the form of sending a bill to all our European creditor nations for the semi-annual payment of the interest on the war loans made to them; and, incidentally, for some payment on the principal in arrears.

Of course, nobody is expecting anything, except, perhaps, from Finland, which thus far is the only state owing us which has kept up her payments. We are going through the farce simply because the American congress, speaking for the American people who think it is a simple matter to pay debts from one nation to another, especially when debtor nations are spending millions for increased armament on land and sea.

Well, the matter is not so simple as that. These governments owe us this money justly. "They hired it, didn't they?" said the late President Coolidge. Yes, they did. But they expected to pay it back in the only way national obligations can be met among nations; that is, in goods or services, or in intangible ways, as by tourists travelling in debtor countries.

If these nations should pay their debts to us in gold, we should not be able to do anything with it except to store it away in our treasury vaults. And if they paid us in goods, it would demoralize our home market to such an extent as to increase the number of our unemployed and affect the income of our farmers.

Payments between nations, as the nations are situated today, cannot be transferred. And that ends the matter. We have not yet cancelled the debts; but, except that the claim is recognized by the debtor nations, they are as dead as the dodo. If the government paid postage on its missives, we should advise it that it was a waste of money. But the form must be carried out, and the recipients will place the "duns" on file.

LOST IN A MAZE

Paul Shoup, chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific railroad, speaking at a session of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said: "In connection with our relief activities, it would be wise to ascertain just what is the state of affairs of those who have been frugal and saving all their lives and have met with poverty in old age, through no fault of their own. There might be a way of aiding them in making what they have left income-producing, or, even recovering what they lost."

Mr. Shoup, right at this point, is on very dangerous ground. Recovering what these people lost would necessitate taking it from somebody who possesses it. After all, there is very little difference, in principle or in substance, between the man who lost his all at once, through some manipulation of the market, and another who has lost his each day of his working years, through his failure to ever get, at any one time, what he actually earned.

Mr. Shoup makes the same mistake in his suggestion that we are afraid the president does in his. He confounds the nature of the system under which we are living, and he would apply some of the principles or policies of another system to remedy certain injustices that appeal to him.

The president would do the same. The class which makes the most distinct appeal to each, however, might not be the same.

In any case, when the legislation would be attempted that would remedy this condition, the one who has gotten his property legally would consider that confiscation was taking place.

Straw

San Diego Union

The explanation offered by President Whitney of the New York Stock Exchange, that the 1929 market crash did not cause the depression but that the market "is but a passive barometer" on business weather, looks suspiciously like a straw man set up only to be knocked down with market arguments. We cannot recall hearing that any authority on economics or business ever seriously blamed the depression upon the market. But the statement does express the chastened mood with which market spokesmen now view their relations with the public. The market can be—and frequently has been—much more than a "passive barometer." During the orgy which culminated in 1929 it was used to stimulate speculation on a fantastic scale. Market leaders—aided by statements from authorities as distinguished as Andrew Mellon and President Coolidge—whipped up the fever through comments upon the market.

But the market can neither make nor break prosperity, when its foremost spokesman admits that he offers an unanswerable argument for making certain that it shall not be permitted to drown out the voices of business.

A Problem

The Oakland Tribune

In Santa Barbara the other day there took place something which is common to all cities.

After an automobile crash the driver of one car, a woman, telephoned to the sheriff's office for an officer to fix the blame. He asked questions of the other driver who was palpably at fault. "Is your car insured?" "Have you any money?" "Have you a job?" In each case the answer was "No."

With this information the under-sheriff said to the woman, "It doesn't seem to make much difference who was responsible for this accident! The woman agreed."

And there comes the question, Should a person who uses the highway with a mechanism capable of destruction be required to fortify himself with insurance to protect those whom he may injure? The other side of it is: should one who cannot afford that protection be denied the use of a car? In the meantime reckless drivers in mechanically imperfect cars are a menace on the highways. Some of them, knowing they are secure, in that there is no way to collect costs from them, may be so much the more reckless.

More Truth Than Poetry

A WORD FOR THE WASP

Which is now being used to attack and exterminate fruit flies.

The wasp I have never regarded Except with a qualm of alarm.
He seems to delight
As he drones on his flight
In doing all possible harm.
He will work himself under your collar
Or light on the back of your neck,
And before you find out
What the bug is about
He will leave you reduced to a wreck.

But now I am told I have wronged him,
I have learned that his daily pursuit
Is to prey on bad bugs
Such as aphids and slugs.
Which raise the old deuce with the fruit.
He repels their attacks on the apples.
All bad insects are meat for his jaws,
So instead of stern blame
We should yield him acclaim
And hail him with praise and applause.

However, although I am grateful,
The creature I do not defend;
He's a glutton for loot,
Is the shrewd little brute;
He may tackle me in the end.
So, when he flies buzzing around me
With hunger and greed in his eye,
Though he may mean me well,
One never can tell.
So I rise in a hurry and fly.

Nothing offends a husband like coming home to get sympathy and discovering that his wife needs it herself. Things work out. A season of adversity makes a rugged race, and that's the kind it takes to pay off the bonds.

Printing more money won't help. Our ever-hopeful financiers would send it to Germany.

In a big country, thank goodness, there's always one section prosperous enough to pay for calamity in the others.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

TOWARDS NEW FEDERALIST PAPERS

Yesterday I suggested that the November election of 1934 will stand in history, not as a party triumph, but as a personal victory, or rather as the instinctive turning of a people to the only leadership in the field that was turning to those deeper issues that lie beneath and beyond the routines of party politics.

I meant by this, quite frankly, that both the Democratic and Republican parties, as parties, are today in solution.

The momentary leadership of the Democratic party, under Mr. Roosevelt, quite apart from the soundness or unsoundness of this or that specific measure, has approached the situation in the right spirit, a spirit of candid unconcern with party traditions, a spirit of refusal to shout ancient battle cries when those battle cries bear no vital relation to the problems that press hard upon the people, a spirit of willingness to plow into new territory.

But, in all honesty, the Roosevelt leadership has been an improvising leadership. It has cut and tried. It has followed the trial and error process. It has sallied forth and swung back. It has dared. It has at times seemed dogmatic, but it has been willing to swallow even its newest dogmas when even brief experience has shown them untenable. I do not say this in a carping spirit. Traditionally a Republican, I have consistently applauded this Rooseveltian improvising. I do not know in what direction we could have turned for a more productive approach during the last two years when men everywhere were baffled. But, sooner or later, we, under the Roosevelt leadership or some other leadership, must move to more solid ground than a frantic and almost weekly changing which improvising offers.

We need to have happened something analogous to what happened when the Federalist papers were being written. We need to rethink the whole problem of government and enterprise in terms of the changed civilization that has come upon us since the days of the Constitutional Fathers. If the Democratic and Republican parties are to remain the two media of our political thought and action, each must find its new political philosophers to do for it the Federalist sort of thing. Quite frankly, we cannot trust our future to the Farleys of our major parties.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

THE IMPOSSIBLE TASK

"Children, the superintendent is coming tomorrow. I want you to look your best and do your best. Everybody dress up. All the boys put on white blouses and fresh ties, polish their shoes and brush their hair. The girls always look nice anyway but they can have white blouses and fresh ribbons for the occasion. We must look nice." Miss Mary knew that a good appearance went a long way with the inspector. She wanted to win a high rating from him, not an easy thing to do at the best. "Don't forget to tell your mothers about it. Remember, all dressed up for tomorrow."

That afternoon an irate mother called on Miss Mary. "What do you mean by telling my boy he must dress up to come to school? I send him clean. Isn't that the back yard? If you'd attend to your own business and teach him I'd thank you."

"What is the matter, Mrs. Heather, I don't understand."

"You told Richard he was to wear a white blouse, fresh tie, and keep his shoes polished, wear his best clothes to school. You have a fine idea of what it costs to keep that child in shoes alone. One pair of pants lasts him about two weeks. And you tell him he must wear his best ones to school."

"Why don't you worry about his bad spelling and his poor arithmetic? That doesn't bother you at all but it is what you are paid for. You attend to your business, teach Richard when I send him to school and I'll look after his clothes and thank you for nothing."

After the great noise there lay a great stillness on the empty classroom. Miss Mary sat at her desk stunned and saddened. She had struggled to get fifty-three children between the ages of nine and ten to master the rudiments of their grade. She had tolled over this Richard, giving him special lessons, special home work, personal attention at every lesson. She had prodded him to the stage of getting eighty in spelling instead of thirty or forty. She had succeeded in getting him to read a whole sentence without a mistake where he used to stand silent and scowling when his name was called for reading. And this was all her work counted for? A trade of abuse. "Well, the next thing for me to do is to go say my prayers. I'll need grace for tomorrow," and Miss Mary gallantly faced her job once more.

Next morning the class filed into the room like a regiment on dress parade, faces shining, hair fully neat, shoes polished, blouses whiter than snow. And who, think you, was the shiniest of them all? Richard of course. And he did better that day than he had done for a week. The dress parade bolstered his spirit and inspired his lagging memory. Miss Mary gave him a white card, his name written large upon it and the word "Commendation" beautifully inscribed.

Have a thought for the teacher these days. Her task is well nigh impossible. Think of teaching over 50 little ones, or 40, to be clean, to be mannerly, to work thoroughly, to recite clearly, to remember accurately, to be in all things just and right and lovely! Think of what it means to be under the stern eye of the supervisor, the taxpayer and the parent every day of one's life. Think of the well nigh impossible task of the teacher, and give her a word of praise and thanks. She earns it.
